Doctor's Bid Held 'Suicide'

By WAT TAKESHITA

Doctor's Ambulance Service of San Rafael yesterday submitted a surprisingly low bid of $14.95 per patient for emergency ambulance service for the county, a bid which was termed "impossible" and "financial suicide" by its competitors.

The bid requested no emergency service surcharge, mileage payment, or subsidy.

Kenneth M. Hale, who submitted the low bid, admitted "it's a losing proposition" but explained he hopes to make up the loss from increased private ambulance business.

"We won't make a dime off the county emergency service; in fact, we'll have to subsidize the emergency service through private ambulance business."

Hale said that by getting an exclusive franchise on county emergency calls, his company hopes to generate enough private business to offset the loss.

"Heck, I didn't want to let the bid go out that way, but the president of the company (his partner Fred Strain of Oakland) said let it go. This was more or less an attempt to settle the whole thing once and for all," he said.

"A good deal of private business can be generated from county calls," said Hale. As examples, he said patients picked up on calls from county communications are likely to remember and make repeat calls for service. "And once we take a patient to the hospital, it's likely that we'll bring him home."

But competitors called the low bid "impossible."

It just doesn't make sense," declared Jack D. Kinney of Novato Ambulance Service. "Something is wrong somewhere. It's completely stupid and a financial suicide."

He and Richard F. Angotti of United Ambulance pointed out that Doctor's Ambulance last month had submitted an offer for $25 per patient with $1 mileage fees plus subsidies for the Novato area. Angotti said it is incredible to him how Doctor's can now offer the service for $14.95 per patient with no mileage and no subsidy. "The bid frankly puzzles me," said Angotti.

Rusk Stresses Soviet Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today the Soviet military action in Eastern Europe was a "very serious development" which will have to be examined "soberly and in detail" by the western allies.

Rusk, at an impromptu news conference, also declared the Russian move on Czechoslovakia had a serious impact on foreign ministers at the United Nations General Assembly opening, throwing a cloud over their considerations.

He questioned whether Moscow, in its stand asserting that the interests of Communism override those of nationalism, is making a special use of Communist doctrine to justify the invasion of Czechoslovakia or whether it marks a major new turn for Soviet foreign policy.

TIGERS BEAT CARDS, 4-1, WIN THE WORLD SERIES

Lolich's Five-Hitter Does It For Detroit

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mickey Lolich, working with only two days' rest, beat the mighty Bob Gibson in a seventh-game World Series today 4-1 and the aroused Detroit Tigers completed a smashing comeback by dethroning the St. Louis Cardinals.

Gibson, setting a Series strikeout record with 35 in three games, and Lolich matched scoreless innings until the Tigers broke through suddenly with two out in the seventh, just as they did all season.

Jim Northrup, whose grand slam homer capped the big 10-run inning yesterday lofted a long fly to deep center. Curt Flood first started in on the ball, slipped as he tried to change direction and the ball sailed over his head for a triple, scoring both Cash and Horton.

The Tigers added an extra run in the ninth on singles by Horton, Northrup and Don Wert. Dick Tracewski, running for Horton scored the run.

Lolich, winner of the second and fifth games, had a shutout with two out in the ninth, nobody on base and two strikes on batter Mike Shannon. However, Shannon lifted a fly ball over the left field wall for a run that only delayed the Tigers' riotous celebration.

FOULS OUT

When Tim McCarver fouled out to catcher Freehan to end the game, the Tiger bench erupted onto the field and there was a wild scene between home plate and first base as they took turns beating one another on the back. it was just 23 years ago to the day that the Tigers had won their last World Series, beating the Chicago Cubs in the seventh game Oct. 10, 1945, behind Hal Newhouser. They had not been in a Series since that date so the end of the long drought meant something extra to Manager Mayo Smith and his boys.

The crowd of 54,692 that watched the game in bright, sunny weather at Busch Stadium sensed that this was not their day when a Card threat aborted in the sixth inning. Gibson was rolling along strong with a one-hitter at that stage.

Lou Brock opened the Card sixth with a single, tying the all-time Series record of 13 hits, set by the Yanks' Bobby Richardson in 1964. Brock, who already had tied his own stolen base record with seven, tried for No. 8. He leaned toward second and took off when Lolich threw to first baseman Cash. However, Cash quickly relayed the ball to shortstop Mickey Stanley who put the tag on Brock.

Apollo 7 Voyage On Go Signal

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The Apollo 7 astronauts and their new moonship today were pronounced ready to go tomorrow in an 11-day, 163-orbit shakedown run. Weather, however, remained a question mark.

Rocket chief Wernher von Braun said at an afternoon news briefing that he found the three astronauts "in a highly confident frame of mind and eager to go."

Weather, however, could interefere with the scheduled 8 a.m. (PST) launch of Apollo's Saturn 1B rocket, he said.

RAIN POSSIBLE

Von Braun said forecasters predicted some rain showers in the morning. He said high winds associated with them might force the astronauts to leave their ship during the final hours of the countdown. This could result in a 24-hour launch postponement.

The pilots attended a final review of their mission with top project officials at midday today and were told that all aspects of the countdown were "go."

DOVE HUNTING

Command pilot Walter Schirra, on the verge of his third and final voyage into space, was so cool he spent yesterday dove-hunting on a private preserve 60 miles from the spaceport.

Schirra went with a party of 30 persons, a troop movement which evidently unnerved the doves, for only about a dozen were bagged—none by the astronaut.

His crewmen, Donn Eisele and Walter Cunningham, stayed in their luxurious quarters at the space center, poring over details of the planned 163-orbit flight.

Neither Cunningham nor Eisele has been into space before. Schirra, one of the two original astronauts still active, has been up twice. He announced recently that he probably would retire after the voyage of Apollo 7.

Launch operations manager Paul Donnelly said yesterday the countdown for the start of the mission was running two to three hours ahead of schedule.

Equal Time Defeated In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican sit-out today defeated Democrat attempts for passage in the Senate of a bill to permit free television and radio time for joint appearances of major presidential candidates.

Two hours after the Senate met, when a bare quorum of 51 had been obtained, Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the majority leader, moved that action on the equal time bill be indefinitely postponed, thus killing it.

NEXT BUSINESS

He proposed the next order of business be a session-end catch-all $647.7 million appropiations measure.

The bill, passed by the House 280 to 35 yesterday after an historic, locked-in debate, would provide for joint apparances by all three candidates on free time provided by the television and radio networks.

When Mansfield called the House-passed bill up at the start of today's Senate session, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois made a point of no quorum.

DIRKSEN TACTIC

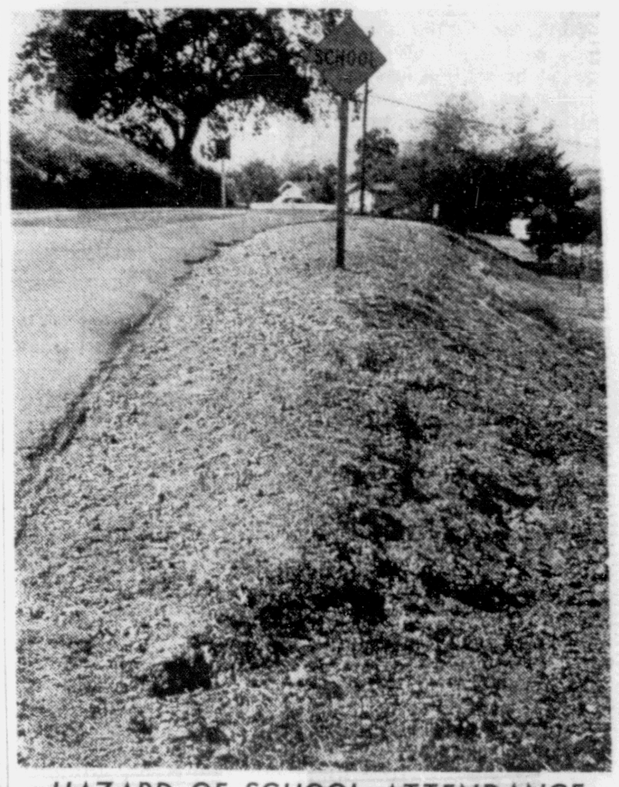
In an unexpected battle tactic, Dirksen had a page boy posted outside the chamber to tell GOP senators not to respond to the quorum call.

Before today's surprise Senate move, Robert Ellsworth, Nixon's political adviser, made it clear in an interview in Moline, Ill., Nixon would not enter into any debates.

This countered an earlier statement by the candidate, indicating his willingness to engage in a joint debate with his opponent, Hubert H. Humphrey, but not if third party candidate George C. Wallace also participated.

The Nixon aide maintains prior Senate action suspending equal time requirements, could still leave the gate open to Wallace with broadcasters having the right to invite whom they want.

This thinking was reaffirmed today as Wallace said in Evansville, Ind., he had accepted a television debate offer from NBC and CBS.



HAZARD OF SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

Motorists topping this hill on Indian Valley Road in Novato have limited visual distance in which to see youngsters who must walk in roadway to reach Hill Junior High School, which is just over the rise. Lacking sidewalks, the pupils have no choice but to chance the traffic. It is one of many schools in Marin which lack safety protection for children afforded by sidewalks. Some others are pictured on Page 8. (Independent-Journal photo)

LBJ Will Not Submit New Court Nominee

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson said today he would not submit a new nominee for Chief Justice in place of Abe Fortas and he asked Earl Warren to remain in the post "until emotionalism subsides, reason and fairness prevail."

Senate leaders last week were unable to break a filibuster against the nomination of Fortas to the nation's highest judicial post and the associate justice, a friend of Johnson, asked the President to withdraw his name. Johnson complied.

In a statement issued by the White House, Johnson said:

"In ordinary times I would feel it my duty now to send another name to the Senate for this high office. I shall not do so. These are not ordinary times, we are threatened by an emotionalism, partisanship, and prejudice that compell us to use great care if we are to avoid injury to our constitutional system.

"Our distinguished Chief Justice has indicated his willingness to serve until his successor qualifies. Under the circumstances, the foundations of government would be better served by the present Chief Justice remaining until emotionalism subsides, reason and fairness prevail."

Warren wrote Johnson last spring he wanted to retire. Johnson accepted the retirement announcement subject to confirmation of a successor.

With the Senate driving toward adjournment, there was considerable doubt that any new Johnson nominee could gain confirmation.

It was disclosed that the President conferred privately at the White House Tuesday night with Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen. The matter of the Supreme Court presumably was discussed at the meeting although there was no immediate confirmation by the White House.

In his statement, Johnson defended the qualifications of both Fortas and Homer Thornberry, whom he had nominatexd to succeed Fortas as an associate justice. "Their qualifications are indisputable," Johnson said.

The Thornberry nomination was withdrawn at the same time as that of Fortas' since no vacancy would exist.

Brundage Re-Elected

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Avery Brundage, 81-year-old apostle of amateurism in sports, won re-election today as president of the tee, defeating Count Jean Beaumont of France, the only other candidate for the prestigious post. (Earlier story, page 33.)

The ballot was secret, and only a simple majority was needed of the 59 committee members voting.

Brundage was re-elected to a four year term which would carry his presidency through the 1972 Games in Munich, Germany.

Brundage, known around the world as a foe of professionalism in sports, is a rich Chicagoan who has been the center of numberless controversies since he first assumed the post as head of the Olympic movement at the Games in Helsinki in 1952.

Conte Beaumont, Brundage's only rival, is a member of the French Parliament and has newspaper interests in France. Like Brundage, he is a millionaire. The presidents of the IOC not only do not receive any salary or expenses, but must foot a heavy bill from their own pocket for travel and entertainment.

This fact has brought criticism from those that point out that only very rich men can afford to head up the Olympic movement.

House Approves Gun Control Bill

Marin To Take Over Psychiatric Screening

Beginning next July, screening of all involuntary mental cases in Marin County is expected to be done at the new Community Mental Health Center adjoining Marin General Hospital instead of at Napa or Mendocino state hospitals.

New state legislation requires that counties take care of involuntary mental cases at home as far as possible, Dr. Gerald Hill, chairman of the Marin County Mental Health Advisory Board, said today in reporting a special board meeting held last night to discuss the 1969-70 budget.

In conjunction with the new requirement, however, the state has approved legislation increasing its contribution from 75 to 90 per cent of the costs of services, he said. The county provides the remainder.

Dr. Clyde G. Miller, director of community mental health services, said he did not yet have figures on the estimated costs of the new services, which would also include in and out involuntary patient care up to 14 days, crisis intervention and patient evaluation.

However, he said the services are on a high priority list with the state and indicated funds for them probably would be approved.

Three other new programs were endorsef and the board agreed last night to request funds for them from the state. Dr. Hill noted the programs are considered low-priority by the state.

He said the board agreed to ask $76,000 for an additional traveling children's group as its top priority. The funds would be for a psychiatrist, social worker and psychologist to be in the community and available for treating children.

Dr. Hill said $48,000 would be asked to provide mental retardation services. Dr. Miller said he hopes also to have a service to provide short term care for mentally retarded children so parents can get away for a few days. Funds for that were not included in the $48,000 figure, he said.

A request for $20,000 for coordination and development of rehabilitation services for former hospital patients was also approved, Dr. Hill said.

The budget approved last night totaled $1,954,000, but that figure is only for the present authorized program. If the new proposals are approved by the state, the budget would go up proportionately, Dr. Miller said.

The current budget is

Seoul Paper Says North Korea Ready To Free The Pueblo Crew

SEOUL (UPI)—A Seoul newspaper today reported the 82 crewmen of the U.S. spy ship Pueblo might be released from North Korea today or tomorrow.

There was no official conformation of the report.

The report in Kyung Hyang Shinmoon was attributed to "informed sources." A spokesman for the U.N. command refused to comment on the report.

(In Washington, State Department officials said they knew of no imminent breakthrough in negotiations to gain release of the Pueblo crewmen.)

The newspaper said U.S. and north Korean negotiators made progress in talks yesterday and today and were continuing them at the U.N. truce village at Panmunjom.

It said that Swedish Lt. Gen. Lennard Finnmark a member of the U.N. neutral nations supervisory commission, was participating in the talks at Panmunjom.

U.S. Maj. Gen. Gilbert H. Woodward inspected the U.S. Army hospital near the truce front yesterday following the Panmunjom discussions, the newspaper said. The Pueblo crew would most likely be taken there for physical examinations.

North Korean gunboats siezed the USS Pueblo off the Communist coastline Jan. 23, claiming it has entered territorial waters. The North Koreans have demanded an apology from the United States as a condition for the release of the crewmen.

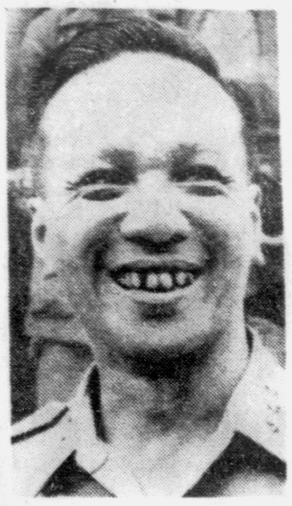
President Thieu Denies Coup Try



NGUYEN VAN THIEU
No coup, he says

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu denied today that an attempt had been made Tuesday to overthrow his one-year- old elected government.

"I can say that this is not true," Thieu said in a special television and radio broadcast. "The fact that people saw that some military installations were on alert and that military men were assigned to quarters caused rumors that there was a coup."

Other high level government spokesmen and sources had told newsmen that the alert was because of an attempted coup that failed.

A government spokesman read a presidential communique to newsmen at a regular afternoon press briefing. It said: "During the past two days there have been many false rumors spread by the Communists or uninformed people saying that ARVN (Army of the Republic of Vietnam) troops are on alert to defend against a rebellion and, second, that a number of people have been arrested.

"All military measures being applied are normal to defend military installations. The military is continuing activities against the enemy."

The communique said there had been no arrests. The spokesman who read the communique at the briefing declined to comment further, even when it was pointed out that a government spokesman earlier had confirmed that a coup attempt had been made.

That spokesman had told newsmen: "You can say that a government spokesman confirmed that there was an attempted coup but that it failed."

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said, "We still have nothing on why they called the alert, other than that it was a normal precautionary alert."

Vietnamese government spokesmen attributed the alert to a move to counter possible action by "trouble-makers," but they would not identify the "trouble-makers."

Cabinet Falls

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President Charles Helou has accepted the resignation of Premier Abdullah Yafi's eight-month-old government.

The move came during the Cabinet's regular weekly meeting yesterday to discuss Yafi's dispute with Justice Minister Sulieman Franjieh over a reshuffle in the judicial corps.

Spy Chieftain Dies

BONN, Germany (AP) — The suicide of Maj. Gen. Horst Wendland, deputy chief of West Germany's secret federal intelligence service, was not connected with security matters, government sources said last night.

Westland, 56, shot himself in his office near Munich Tuesday. The sources said he was suffering from an "incurable depressive illness." Because of the nature of the agency's work, there was no formal announcement of his death from the government.

Anglo-Rhodesia Talk

GIBRALTAR (AP) — The prime ministers of Britan and Rhodesia started negotiating today after declaring uncompromising stands on Britain's demand for "unimpeded progress" toward African majority rule in Rhoderia.

Despite the positions they outlined yesterday, Harold Wilson of Britian and Ian Smith, head of the white minority government in breakaway Rhodesia, both said they were hopeful for a settlement.

They met for two hours aboard the British assault ship Fearless in Gibraltar Harbor last night to set the ground rules for their talks. Aides said the atmosphere was "fairly amiable . . . certainly not hostile."

Hong Kong Brawl

HONG KONG (AP)—Pro-Nationalist and pro-Communist Chinese shipyard workers fought with chairs, iron bars, and tools today in a brawl over Chinese flag.

The fight started when a group of Nationalist supporters started to raise the flag at a shipyard union building and a group of pro-Communists tried to stop them.

NATO Session On

BONN, Germany (AP) — Defense chiefs of seven NATO countries began secret two-day consultations today on the role of nuclear weapons in the defense of the West.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization's nuclear planning group, also known as the McNamara Committee after former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, was meeting under maximum security conditions.

The U. S., British, West German, Italian, Danish, Belgian and Greek delegations to the semiannual session were believed to be hearing details of a series of studies compiled since they conferred in April in the Hague.

Peru Seizes Oil

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Peru's revolutionary military government took over a $200-million American-owned oil field complex yesterday in a move that could delay recognition of the new regime by the United States and other Latin American governments.

The action against International Petroleum Corp., a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey, also could slow foreign investment which Peru needs.

President Juan Velasco Alvarado announced the seizure by the armed forces of the country's major petroleum complex in a speech broadcast to the nation shortly after noon.

Slaying Figure Blames His Partner

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Except for an occasional moistening of his lips and blinking of his eyes, Leonard Maine yesterday calmly placed the blame on his co-defendant in the slaying of three persons and the critical wounding of an 18-year-old girl.

After taking the stand in his own behalf, the 19-year-old Ritzville, Wash., youth told his attorney, John Poulos, and the jury, he was afraid of his companion, Thomas E. Braun, as the defense opened its case.

'REALLY SCARED'

"I was really scared and sick all the time," Maine said. "I was scared I was going to get shot."

Maine and Braun are on trial for the August, 1967 slaying of Timothy Luce and the wounding of his girl friend, Susan Bartolomei, in Ukiah.

But, in addition to the Ukiah shootings, Maine also implicated himself and Braun in the murders of a Washington state housewife and a Portland, Ore., used car salesman.

However, Maine, who spent the entire day on the witness stand, said he did not fire a single shot during the three state shooting spree.

PAIR OF REVOLVERS

Under cross examination by prosecutor Arthur Broaddus, Maine admitted police found a pair of revolvers in his room at a Jamestown hotel. Braun occupied a separate room.

Braun's attorney, Merle Orchard, did not object to the testimony, and, under cross-examination, had Maine admit that the two teen-agers had been drinking a large quantity of beer prior to the shooting spree.

Maine did not mention the names of the Washington or Oregon victims but he unemotionally recited the details of the slayings that began Aug. 18.

The victims were Mrs. Deanna Buse and Samuel Ledgerwood.

Maine said he and Braun picked up Luce and Miss Bartolomei while they were walking along a road near Ukiah.

"Braun instructed me to turn off a side road and into an orchard," Maine said. "He ordered Tim and Susan to get out, but then told Susan to get back into the car. Braun took Timothy back of some bushes and I heard one shot."

He said Braun sexually assaulted Miss Bartolomei at a nearby motel and then "pointed a gun at me and told me to go ahead."

After a trip to Yosemite, Maine said, "Braun told me he wanted to get rid of her and I told him to 'let her go she ain't done nothing.'" But, he said, Braun ordered him to pull off the road at the orchard shooting site.

"I covered myself with a blanket in the car and then I heard a bunch of shots and Braun came back to the car and said, 'Let's go.'"

Arrests Bring Uproar Near U.C.

BERKELEY (AP) — Rocks and bottles were thrown from a crowd of about 300 persons last night on Telegraph Avenue south of the University of California campus as police arrested four persons for smoking marijuana.

Of 30 patrolmen called to handle the crowd, six suffered minor injuries. Nine persons were arrested on charges stemming from the scuffles, including disturbing the peace, assaulting a policeman and inciting to riot.

The trouble started when plainclothes officers Lloyd Clifton and Peter McBean moved in on six persons who appeared to be smoking marijuana.

Tell Regents Your Views, Reagan Says

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan is telling protestors of Eldridge Cleaver's appearance at the University of California to write the school's regents.

The governor sent out a form letter yesterday replying to what his office said were more than 12,000 letters with 20,000 signatures. The letters — all but 200—protested Cleaver's being allowed to lecture to a U.C. course.

The minister of information for the Black Panther organization of Negro militants had been invited by organizers of the course at Berkeley to deliver 10 lectures on the subject of racism.

REAGAN OUTVOTED

Reagan said Cleaver shouldn't be allowed even one appearance but his fellow regents voted 10-8 to limit Cleaver — and any other invited lecturer — to one appearance.

Reagan said in his letter yesterday that his influence on the board "consists of my one vote, by ability to persuade, and, to some degree, upon the appointments that I am able to make to the board. Thus far, I have had the opportunity to appoint directly only two members."

CITES LONG TERMS

Noting that regents have 16-year terms, he added, "it seems that the only way to ensure accountability under the present structure of the board of regents is that the people speak directly to them." With that, he included the names and address of all the regents in his letter.

He said those who have written to him "expressed the same point of view — that is, in the interest of society, of youth and of maintaining appropriate standards at a university, Mr. Cleaver should not appear even once under the auspices of the university."

Cleaver Resumes Use Of Four-Letter Style

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver, who surprised critics with a "scholarly" lecture on racism at the University of California, resumed his obscene attacks on them yesterday at San Francisco State College.

He blasted Gov. Ronald Reagan, Superintendent of Public Instruction Max Rafferty, Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh, Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco, State College Chancellor Glenn Dumke "and the rest of the pigs that make up the power structure."

Then Cleaver, a 33-year-old author, black militant, and ex-convict presently facing trial on charges of assault with intent to commit murder, led students in singing choruses of four-letter obscenities mentioning the governor.

He then broadened his attack to include presidential candidates Hubert Humphrey, Richard Nixon and George Wallace.

He was invited to San Francisco State yesterday to read selections from his novel, "Soul on Ice." He was named an honorary lifetime member of the S.F. State Associated Students, the legislative body of the college, before his talk.

But Cleaver chucked his book aside to level volleys at his critics and urge "support for Newton." He referred to Black Panther co-founder Huey Newton, who was recently sentenced to 2 to 10 years in prison for killing an Oakland policeman.

"If Huey isn't freed," he shouted, "we're going to free him, and we're going to do it with guns."

Cleaver said there were 30 million black people in the United States who would fight. Looking over the crowd of 2,000, he added: "and from all the beards and long hair I see here, I think we'll get a few divisions from the white community to help us."

"You, pig, standing there in the business suit and crewcut," the Black Panther leader asked, "why aren't you clapping?"

Cleaver said this was the kind of person who would go against the wall when the shooting starts.

Humphrey Lists Net Financial Worth: $281,423

Humphrey's total assets are $377,867, his office said yesterday in disclosing his financial standing at his request. But his liabilities total $96,444.

The liabilities include $83,714 in mortgages, a $6,589 bank loan and $6,141 in miscellaneous debits, the financial statement said.

It listed assets of $166,246 in a trust fund established when he became vice president, an $88,360 home in Washington and a $45,780 home in Waverly, Minn.

In Minneapolis Tuesday an aide to Richard M. Nixon said the GOP presidential candidate has personal wealth of just over a half-million dollars.

The former vice president's assets were listed as $858,190 by his business manager. After liabilities, the candidate's total net worth was set at $515,830.

Agenda Fuss Delays Drug Abuse Workshop

A drug abuse education workshop scheduled for this weekend by the Marin County Board of Education has been postponed as a result of disagreement over what type of program should be held.

The board Monday had hired James F. T. Bugental, research associate at Stanford Research Institute, as consultant for the workshop tomorrow and Saturday at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Warren Binzley, county schools office curriculum coordinator, said today, however, that he has decided to postpone the workshop, probably for about a month, and that Bugental's appearance will be rescheduled for then.

He said the disagreement was between members of a 30-member committee at a Tuesday meeting at the county schools office. Some felt the workshop should deal with how to work with students in the drug abuse area only, and others felt the workshop should involve communication techniques for teachers in dealing with students in all subjects, rather than in drug abuse matters alone.

Binzley said Bugental, a specialist in communication techniques between teacher and student, was to have been consultant on a workshop involving communication with students on all subjects, and that a second workshop had been hoped for to deal with the specialized approach.

He said that because of the differences of opinion, a longer workshop with a broader program — probably encompassing both approaches — will be scheduled but that the committee needs time to make the plans.

Binzley said that in addition to Bugental, a consultant specializing in the drug abuse area of communication may be hired for that workshop.

About 17 of the committee's 30 members attended the Tuesday conference. The committee is composed of teachers, administration staff members, and others from the county's school districts who attended a week-long drug abuse workshop called "inundation" last June. It is now working with teachers toward drug abuse education and this weekend will go to San Mateo to visit the Youth Drop-In Center for problem youngsters, sponsored by civic organizations, Binzley said.

Pair Facing Marijuana Charges

A San Rafael man and woman are to appear for preliminary hearing Nov. 25 in Marin Municipal Court on charges that authorities found a "sizeable quantity" of marijuana in their apartment Saturday night.

Earl L. Ritchie, 28, and Ursala Turner, both of 100 Bayo Vista Way, Apt. 6, were surrendered in Municipal Court Tuesday to face the felony marijuana possession charge.

Ritchie was arrested Saturday at Disneyland by Anaheim police on suspicion of trying to pass a counterfeit $20 bill. He was turned over to Secret Service agents, but no complaint was issued, Anaheim police said.

Ritchie allegedly told Anaheim police there was a "lot of marijuana" in his apartment. San Rafael police and Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard B. Shaw seached the apartment and said they found the marijuana in an instant breakfast carton.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Ritchie and the girl and their attorney, Clark Fergus, brought them to court, where each entered a plea of innocent.

Shaw asked that the pair be fingerprinted, but Fergus objected. Judge Roth said he would rule on this Nov. 15.

MENTAL

$1,213,456, but includes only a partial year's operation of the mental health center. It is scheduled to open in November.

The county share of the 1969-70 operating budget would be $110,000, compared to this year's $193,516. The rest is state and federal funds.

The special meeting last night was held to meet a state requirement that the Community Mental Health Services Department submit its budget to the state by Tuesday, Dr. Hill said.

The board of supervisors will consider it at its meeting Tuesday. Final figures are expected then, Dr. Miller said.

Grape Boycott Gets Support

The Marin Building and Construction Trades Council Tuesday night sanctioned informational picketing of markets which continue to sell California table grapes.

A. Miguel Rodriguez, coordinator between the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee and the Marin County Labor Council, said that as a result "all labor unions in Marin have endorsed the boycott."

Rodriguez said yesterday picketing would begin today at Lucky and Mayfair markets, but none was reported this morning.

BIDS

a joint venture bid yesterday, offering county emergency service at $25 per patient, $1 per mile and $1,000 per month subsidy from the county. Angotti said this was a joint venture for this bid along, and the joint venture is null and void if they do not win the county contract.

Angotti refuted the claim by Doctor's Ambulance that private business can be generated to make up for the loss in providing emergency service for the county. "How is he going to generate private business when Novato Ambulance is still in existence, and we are still operating in San Rafael?" asked Angotti. He said United will continue its private emergency service with red lights and siren as in the past. "The only difference is that the county won't call us. It's going to be very difficult to generate more private business."

County Purchasing Agent Doug Edelen and administrative analyst Timothy M. Jackson, who opened the two bids yesterday, said they plan to make recommendations to the board of supervisors next Tuesday.

"There seems to be no question that Doctor's is lower, but we want to analyze the bids further," said Edelen.

Marin County supervisors, fed up with a long-running feud among ambulance companies, decided last month to call for one ambulance firm to provide emergency service to most of Marin, except for peripheral areas where emergency ambulance service exists, such as in West Marin, Stinson Beach, the area north of Marshall and Sausalito. The ambulance firm that wins the county franchise will also give backup service to those peripheral areas.

Yesterday's bid by Doctor's Ambulance offers emergency-ambulance service county-wide at $14.95 per patient with no mileage charge, and $14.95 for each dry run. Cost for the second patient would be $7.50.

For nonemergency county patients (medically indigent and mentally ill) the rate would be $24.95 plus $1 per mile, and $18 for the second patient. If there is any waiting, the surcharge would be $7.50 per 15 minutes, after the first 15 minutes of waiting.

The joint offer by United and Novato ambulance service called for a base rate of $25 for both emergency and nonemergency patients, $1 per mile, $12.50 for the second patient, $25 for dry runs, plus $1,000 per month subsidy from the county. Surcharges would include $5 extra for night service and a waiting cost of $30 per hour after the first 15 minutes of waiting.

Hale, the low bidder, acknowledged there would be a battle for private business. "But there's no doubt we can handle it." He plans to have two ambulances in San Rafael, with headquarters at 2144 Fourth Street (Miracle Mile), one ambulance in Mill Valley at 11 South Knoll Road, and one in Novato, at a site still to be picked.

Hale said his company has just equipped its ambulances with new heart-lung resuscitator equipment, used for heart massage when breathing has stopped.

Egypt Says U.S. Harms Peace Effort

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad accused the United States today of standing in the way of Middle East peace by supplying political and material support to Israel—including weapons and planes.

In a major policy address before the 125-nation General Assembly, Riad bitterly accused Israel of undermining the peace efforts of U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring and of defying U.N. resolutions.

He attacked Israel's latest peace plan as an instrument of surrender for the Arab countries. The way to peace, he said, is through implementation of the Security Council resolution of last Nov. 22 which calls for the withdrawal of Israeli forces from Arab territory occupied in the June war last year.

And in an obvious reference to the proposed transfer of U.S. F4 Phantom jets to Israel, he said: "The supply by the United States of weapons and planes to Israel, while it insists on the occupation of the territories of three members states of the United Nations can in no way contribute to the realization of peace in the Middle East."

Riad said that, while Egypt has declared its readiness to accept the Nov. 22 resolution and to cooperate with Jarring, "Israel refuses to implement that resolution" and "continues to follow a policy aimed at undermining the mission of Ambassador Jarring, while it cloaks this policy by semantic maneuvers and deceptive statements."

Dixie Teacher Pay Liaison Try Ordered

Dixie School District Supt. Dennie B. Willis should make every effort to improve communication with the teachers association negotiating council on salaries, fringe benefits and curriculum, the Dixie board of trustees decided last night.

Superintendent Willis pointed out that extra time of teachers and clerical staff, plus supplies, would be needed if better communications are to be established with the negotiating council.

Trustees authorized Willis to use the extra time and supplies, and employ substitute help if necessary.

Mogens Kristensen, president of the teachers' negotiating council, said his group will be asking for salary increases, fringe benefits, opportunity for more teachers to serve as resource teachers, and a greater voice in evaluating curriculum.

The Dixie School District Board of Trustees also:

CLASSROOMS — Authorized two portable classrooms at $2,100 each. One will be located at Oak View School and the other at Miller Creek School.

PLAY EQUIPMENT — Authorized purchase of playground equipment and paving the playground at Oak View School at a cost of about $1,000.

MINIMUM SALARY — Raised the minimum on the teachers salary schedule from $5,600 to $6,000, thus raising the salaries of nine teachers who are now paid less than $6,000.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of David Allison, a teacher at Miller Creek School, and hired Mrs. Carole Ellis as replacement at $6,450 per year.

FINANCE STUDY — Appointed 31 citizens to the district's finance study group.

SERIES

out. Curt Flood beat out a single to deep short. But Flood, too, was caught leaning the wrong way by the left-handed Lolich. He was picked off first and finally run down between first and second.

The heart seemed to go out of the Cards with those failures on the bases.

It was a dramatic victory for Lolich, the 28-year-old lefty who likes to ride his fire engine red motor bike to the ball park at home.

Consigned to the bullpen in mid-season, he fought his way back to a starting role and Series stardom.

Although Denny McLain won 31 games in regular season and made up for two series losses by winning yesterday's game, it was Lolich who was the toast of Tigertown in its greatest hour in 23 years.

Brock's 13 hits, and Gibson's 35 strikeouts meant nothing compared to Lolich's three big Series wins that made the difference between the winning and losing for the Tigers. Unofficial estimates put the shares at between $10,000 and $11,000 for the winners and about $7,000 for the losers.

Lolich was named the winner of the World Series sports car award that had gone to Gibson in 1964 and 1967. He joins the select circle of three-time series winners, joined last fall by Gibson who had won eight Series starts in a row before today's defeat.

The Tigers' victory was their third in series competition down through the years. They have lost 5. It was the cards' first defeat in a seven-game set, dropping their over-all record to 8-4. St. Louis was bidding to be the first National League series repeater since the 1921-22 New York Giants, but Lolich and his mates took care of that.

Brock wound up as top hitter in the Series with 13 hits in 28 at bats for .464, and Dal Maxvill hit the bottom by going hitless in 22 at bats, topping the old mark of 0 for 21 last equalled by Gil Hodges of Brooklyn in 1952.

VERS LIBRE CAT

Flower Bower Gower Champion, Mill Valley's library cat, has a new home complete with swinging doors and, of course, a volume of poetry by C. S. Lewis. The house, financed by donations from a bookish cat lover (or a catty book lover), is located on the library deck where all can come to visit Flower. Flower's annoyed look, by the way, is not directed at Librarian Dorothy Thomas for whom he has a great fondness, nor at his swish redwood abode, but at Independent-Journal photographer Jim Kean's camera which Flower apparently believes is out to capture one of his nine lives.

Immediate Targets, Long-Range Goals To Be Offered Marin City

Successful development of Marin City can be achieved only if it is coupled with the solution of the economic and social problems of its residents.

This is the opinion of Plan of Action in Challenging Times, a nonprofit consultant firm from San Francisco, that will present its "New Perspective" for Marin City before the Marin City Council at 7:30 p.m. today at the Manzanita Center.

PACT believes that along with planning for long range developments, there should be a program for immediate action to meet the needs and desires of the community.

Residents must be involved in determining and implementing the programs, according to PACT. The Marin City Council is scheduled to hear planning ideas from residents tonight.

For immediate action, PACT proposed several possible programs including a jitney bus service within Marin City, community participation in police protection, construction of a swimming pool, busing to Tamalpais High School, programs for the Manzanita Neighborhood Center, grading and filling of the vacant site in the center of the community owned by the Tamalpais High School District, and a summer youth program.

Getting an immediate program going will offer residents some changes, while the long range planning is underway, reported Emory Curtis, a PACT representative.

"Residents in Marin City will not participate in abstract discussion of their problems and the means for solving them unless there is positive evidence that change is already occurring," PACT reported.

Adequate attention must be given to the entire range of social, cultural, economic and "organizational conditions" affecting Marin City and its residents, the firm said.

"One of the most difficult problems of Marin City may be its history," PACT said. "Many residents have lived in Marin City for more than 20 years. These residents have heard many ideas presented, but too many have proven ineffectual. Programs have come and gone, but progress has been painfully slow. One of the significant goals — to maintain racial integration — has failed. The community has gradually become a black ghetto isolated from the rest of the Southern Marin County community."

PACT noted that past plans for development of Marin City stressed physical development, but didn't provide for resident participation in the planning or provide immediate action.

The incidence of crime in Marin City "is unusually high for such a small community," but "meaningful social and economic programs will greatly reduce the rate of crime," the firm contended.

Concerning social problems, it noted that unemployed, underemployed and youth must be helped to find productive jobs. PACT asserted that health services provided by public programs for residents of the community are inadequate.

PACT said the "recent slow pace of development" under the Marin City Redevelopment Plan, and the undeveloped area in the center of the community "symbolize the failure of development in Marin City."

Commercial facilities in Marin City are not adequate to meet the day-to-day needs of the residents, PACT said.

Successful development of the land surrounding the developed area will provide more community resources and the basis for a self-sufficient community, the firm said.

The 32-acre undeveloped area in the core of the community should be developed with its future role as a focal center for the community in sight, PACT said.

The long range comprehensive plan should consider developments outside Marin City, such as commercial activity nearby which would offer job opportunities for residents, the firm noted.

PACT said it would study possible "linkages" between Marin City and Marincello for future commercial development and housing in the area, which potentially could serve both communities.

Marin City has the advantages of a scenic location, open space and attractive and new housing. "There is a great potential for positive change in Marin City because of the manageable dimensions of the problems, a concerned county government and a committed community leadership," PACT contended.

The redevelopment plan must be updated, but a piece-meal approach should be avoided, the firm reported.

Israeli Envoy Dies In Canada

OTTAWA (AP) — Israel's ambassador to Canada, Arieh Eshel, was found dead in a parking lot last night and an Embassy spokesman said today he "apparently had a heart attack."

Eshel, 56, a career diplomat, had attended a reception at the German Embassy earlier in the evening and it is believed he collapsed while going to get his car to drive home.

The ambassador's wife, Tamar Eshel, is a member of Israel's delegation to the United Nations. A spokesman said she was coming to Ottawa to make arrangements for the ambassador's funeral.

22-Year-Old Shot For Denying Loan

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A young man was shot in the back and critically wounded yesterday in the Haight-Ashbury district after he refused to give a "casual acquaintance" $25.

John S. Gretter, 22, was able to tell police a hippie-type friend shot him with a small caliber gun after he refused to part with the money. He was in critical condition today.

New Zealander Discusses Asia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand said today that achievement of peace in Vietnam should not end the concern of the United States and of New Zealand for the future of Southeast asia.

He told a news conference: "Both of us will need to backstop the small countries of this area against the threat of aggression and to assist in their economic development."

Holyoake is completing a two-day official visit here as the guest of President Johnson. He also is taking part in the meeting of the ANZUS defense alliance linking Australia, New Zealand and the United States, set for late today.

San Francisco is the most densely settled city in California, averaging 16,449 persons per square mile.

Homeowners Association Attacks Proposition 9

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The 100,000 member Statewide Homeowners Association yesterday urged defeat of Proposition 9 calling it "a giant windfall to a few land speculators and large landowners and developers."

Association president John Nagy of San Diego said the property tax limitation measure on the November general election ballot "would shift the $1.4 billion in additional taxes largely onto the backs of homeowners and other individual taxpayers."

Nagy charged that homeowners will pay more taxes if the proposition passes, and will lose control of local government services to "a mammoth bureaucracy in Sacramento."

Meanwhile, Orange County School Superintendent Robert D. Peterson denied reports that he favors the measure. Peterson called Proposition 9 "a travesty so far as its alleged relief for property owners' tax situation."

LULL IN VIETNAM

Both Sides Have Lighter Losses

SAIGON (UPI)—A drop-off in heavy fighting across South Vietnam sent American, South Vietnamese and Communist battle losses last week to their lowest point since August, weekly U.S. Command reports showed today.

The figures included both North Vietnamese and American losses during seven days of siege at the Green Beret camp at Thuong Duc --the only sustained battle of the week. Marines hunting the northern tier of the country couldn't find their enemy.

Weekly headquarters casualty reports showed 190 Americans killed in action last week and 1,326 wounded—the lowest weekly total since the week of Aug. 10. Communist deaths dropped to 1,654, fewest in eight weeks.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said their units lost 228 men killed in battle and 1,065 wounded, a five-week low. For the fifth successive week, South Vietnamese deaths outnumbered American deaths.

U.S. war communiques today reported a resurgence of action around Thuong Duc. Marines threw off two Communist ground attacks and waged an artillery duel with North Vietnamese forces still lingering around the Green Beret outpost.

Headquarters put Communist losses for the three clashes at 64 dead. The Marines lost one killed and 13 wounded, spokesmen said.

Thoung Duc, guarding a vital valley approach to Da Nang, weathered a nine-day Communist siege that broke off Monday with 8,000 guerrillas appearing to pull back into the jungled mountains.

But the North Vietnamese swarmed out of the jungle twice yesterday and tried overrunning U.S. Marines guarding the camp's outskirts.

The fighting near Thuong Duc 330 miles north of Saigon dominated war communiques. Other U.S. Marines reported no sign of Communist soldiers in their sweep around the reoccupied combat base at Khe Sanh.

Six waves of American B52 bombers streaked over Red hideouts north and west of Saigon yesterday and today dropped 900 tons of 500-and 750-pound bombs between 20 and 40 miles from the capital.

American paratroopers turned up the latest in a series of northern Red arms caches, headquarters said. They found two dozen North Vietnamese army uniforms and medical supplies and bullets near coastal Quang Tri.

Schoolgrounds Recreation Set In Tam Valley

A recreation program for young people 6 through 17 years of age will begin Dec. 23 at Tamalpais Valley Elementary School.

The Tamalpais Community Services District voted to sponsor the program last night, according to board member Gale E. Bishel.

The purpose, he said, is to give the youngsters something to do and keep them off the streets.

The program will be conducted after school when school is in session, and all day on vacations.

Crafts, hobbies, dancing, judo, guitar, basketball, softball, volleyball and kickball will be among the activities.

Bishel said the board is looking for a man and woman, preferably college students, to supervise the program.

A sum of $2,000 has been set aside, mainly for salaries, for December to July 1.

Youth Pulled Out Of Draft Line

SAN JOSE (AP) — U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has issued a stay that enabled Mark Paulekas' attorney to pull him out of an induction line.

Paulekas' petition for conscientious objector status was denied by his draft board several weeks ago. His attorney, Norman Leonard, appealed.

Leonard said there was an informal understanding that Paulekas would not be drafted pending outcome of the appeal, but Monday the board ordered the youth inducted.

Leonard sent telegrams to the solicitor general in Washington and to Justice Douglas.

At 7:15 a.m. yesterday, the attorney received a call from a clerk of the Supreme Court, saying Douglas had granted a stay.

General Tells His Aim In Salute Controversy

PLEIKU, Vietnam (UPI)—A U.S. Army general cited "public misunderstanding" today for rescinding an order that soldiers who failed to salute superior officers in his base camp would be sent to the combat zone.

Maj. Gen. Charles P. Stone, due to retire in seven weeks after 31 years of service, issued the order Sept. 7 in a daily bulletin to the 18,000 men of his U.S. 4th Ifantry Division at Camp Enari.

Stone rescinded the order yesterday after the story hit newspapers in the United States. He said he did it to "eliminate possible public misunderstanding and misinterpretation." "The general was concerned the public might think the policy was enforced without discernment," an aide said. "he thought it best to merely cancel the order."

The announcement appeared in the division's daily bulletin. "Item 234 from the Sept 7 daily bulletin is rescinded," it said. "No one had to ask what item 234 said," grinned one soldier at the base camp five miles outside Pleiku.

Stone had said earlier that soldiers were transferred to combat areas only for a flagrant violation. Usually, he added, they were counseled and, if necessary, referred to their unit commanders.

The two-star general said saluting is a necessary element of military discipline needed to maintain "responsiveness and alertness within the garrison."

Soldiers who were sent to combat zones were given jobs for which they were trained, Stone said. He did not say how many men had been transferred from the division base camp to the battlefield.

Honors Due For Okie Creator

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The man who first coined the term "Okie" 30 years ago could become one tomorrow—honorary, that is.

Gov. Dewey Bartlett has announced plans to make Ben Reddick, a photographer-reporter in the 1930s on the Los Angeles Examiner, an Honorary Okie.

One of Bartlett's aides will be in California tomorrow and he's promised to look up Reddick—if he's still in the area—and present him with an Honorary Okie citation.

Reddick is credited with first pinning the name Okie on migrants who came to California during Depression days. He used the term in a newspaper feature after seeing the large number of automobiles in a migrant camp bearing the initials "OK" on license plates.

Fishing Rod Taken

Someone stole a fishing rod and flashlight from the garage of James Nelson Grady, 60 Ridgewood Drive, during the past week, San Rafael police said yesterday. The items were valued at $28.

Proposition 9 Backers Contend It Assures Needed Tax Reform

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Proponents of Proposition 9 — largely outshouted so far by private groups and state, county, city and school officials condemning the measure —today aired their arguments on radio station KTIM's Sounding Board.

Benjamin P. Bonelli, Tiburon attorney and chairman of the Marin Property Owners Association's Committee For Proposition 9, conceded that the measure itself would not bring the thorough revision of taxes that is needed, but will force the Legislature to do something.

Despite the recognition by all public officials that property tax relief is needed, said Bonelli, no relief ever will come without public pressure. "There is too much high pressure lobbying in Sacramento," he said, "for real property tax relief, unless it is forced on the Legislature by the people."

The proposition would eliminate property tax support of "people-related services" such as all education and welfare costs, but does not specify how education and welfare would be financed.

It also would limit property taxes to 1 per cent of the market value of a property and have profound effect on financing through bond issues.

The measure does not specify new sources of income, Bonelli said, "because it obviously was unfeasible for a group of citizens to sit down and rewrite the entire tax structure of the state." Also, he said, the secretary ol state ruled that the measure could not provide for other sources of funds.

Bonelli also argued that because property taxpayers have been defeating most local bond measures, money for local school and government facilities should come from the state's general fund.

Also speaking for the proposition, to be voted upon in the Nov. 5 general election, was John H. Winters of Larkspur, a fire insurance executive and member of the United Organizations For a Property Tax Initiative, which is pushing the measure.

"The property tax no longer can support local government," Winters declared, adding that the tax does not touch stocks and bonds, insurance policies, bank deposits and other forms of real property.

Property represents only 15 per cent of the real value in the state, he said, but yields 80 per cent of all taxes collected in the state.

"Clearly, this is inequitable and discriminatory," he said.

Noting that the withdrawal of education and welfare from the property tax would be over a five-year period, Winters said that the annual increase in revenue from sales and income taxes would "just about pick up the difference."

Speaking against the proposition were Dr. Elmer A. Weden Jr., a San Anselmo School District trustee, and Edward P. Ward of Tiburon, a real estate broker.

"We really do have a problem," said Ward of property taxes, "but if we have gangrene at the finger, do we have to amputate at the shoulder?"

The proposition, he said, "goes too far, too fast," and will lead to a state lottery and taxation of church property.

Ward also commented that "in the past, I've come to learn, tax reform has come to mean tax increases."

Dr. Weden, noting the measure would limit bonding capacity to 5 per cent of market value, said it would mean "no further public construction" because most governmental agencies have bonded to about 150 per cent of that limit.

"The construction trade certainly would be hurt," he said.

The measure also would push the sales tax rate from the present 5 cents to 8 or 10 cents per dollar, Weden predicted, thus hitting hard at the consumer and the small businessman, whose business would suffer.

Noting that the state's income tax is bringing in $800 million this year, and that the tax is more than twice what it was two years ago, Weden added that the proposition would force the state to find $2 billion in new revenue sources.

He said the only beneficiaries of the measure would be apartment owners and large property owners.

The four panelists agreed on only one matter — that Proposition 1-A, the Legislature's tax revision measure, will not offer much to taxpayers. It would provide a one-year rebate of about $70 to the averags homeowner.

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be rebroadcast at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Injuries Minor In Accident

Robert E. Moon of 311 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, was injured yesterday when his car collided with another near Red Cart Market at 759 East Blithedale Avenue, according to police.

Moon was treated for face cuts at Marin General Hospital. His wife, a passenger in the car, was not hurt.

Mill Valley police said the accident occurred at 8:20 p.m. when a car driven by Mona V. Swift, 41, of Meadowsweet Motel in Corte Madera, turned left out of the market's driveway in front of Moon's car.

Mrs. Swift, who was also not hurt, was cited for making an illegal turn in violation of "no left turn" signs posted on the street, police said.

Crane Causes Blackout In Two Counties

A crane broke two 12,000 volt power lines north of Novato at 8:24 p.m. yesterday, starting a grass fire and cutting electricity to large portions of northern Marin and southern Sonoma counties.

Power was out at the Gnoss Field, Radio KCBS transmitter, McGraw Hill Book Co., the Midway theater on Highway 101 across the Sonoma County line, businesses along Highway 101 and all the residences between the break and the southern Petaluma city area, according to Leonard O. Robertson, district electrical superintendent for Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Electricity was restored at 9:10 p.m. to all the area except KCBS, which did not have power restored until 11:27 p.m., Robertson reported.

The accident occurred when the crane, operated by Tracy Floyd of Dobbins and Floyd of San Rafael, hit the wires, Robertson said. Floyd, who was uninjured, was getting the crane ready to lift a boat into Black John Slough at the time, he said.

A grass fire resulted from the downed wires which did minor damage to three cars, a 1952 Chevrolet, 1958 Rambler and a 1954 Ford pickup truck that belonged to Foreign Repair Service at 8180 Redwood Highway.

The fire burned approximately a quarter-acre of grass, according to Fire Chief George Cavallero.

Arrests Failing To Stem Deaths

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Drunk driving arrests by the California Highway Patrol are up 16.8 per cent over the same period a year ago, but despite the increase in law enforcement, the state highway death toll was 436 for September and 3,520 for the first nine months of the year, both figures higher than a year ago.

Last year, 3,416 persons died on the highways during the first nine months with 433 of them in September.

For the year to date, the patrol has made 1,500,933 arrests, up 4.4 per cent over the figures for last year. The drunk driving total arrests reached 32,140 for the year as compared with 27,510 last year.

While total arrests for the month of September were down from a year ago, the drunk driving arrests were up 2.5 per cent for the month with 3,229 motorists being cited for drunk driving in September.

Vandals broke a display window, valued at $100, Tuesday night or early yesterday at Stan's for Sports, Third and Grand streets, San Rafael police reported.

THIEF STILL CAN'T KEEP FLIES OUT

There appears to be a conscientious thief in Novato.

Mrs. Laura M. Barges of 1635 Center Road saw her front screen door lying out on the lawn shortly after 8 a.m. yesterday. She called Novato police to investigate, thinking that someone might have tried to force their way into her house.

"Sorry but it doesn't fit. Thanks anyway," was written on the tape.

Police surmised that someone stole the screen door to put onto his own house and when it did not fit, returned it.

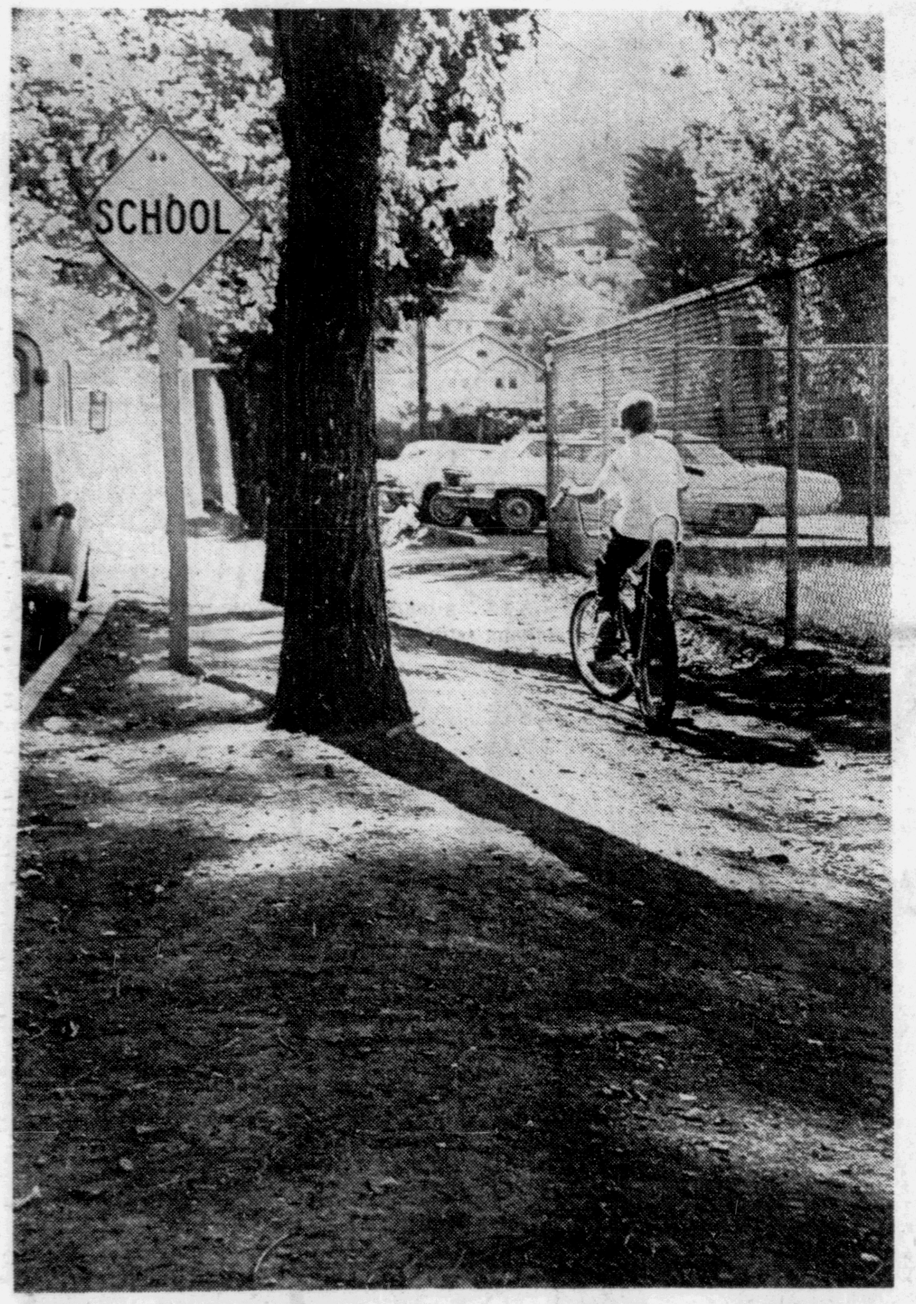
DUE FOR CORRECTION — The Marin County Board of Supervisors two weeks ago voted to give priority attention to providing sidewalks for children who attend Pleasant Valley School, just outside the corporate limits of Novato. This photo shows situation there, in which pupils must walk down San Joaquin Avenue among traffic until they reach end of sidewalk which goes around corner to school entrance.

TIBURON PROBLEM — The "School Crossing" sign provides little protection to children who must walk down sidewalkless Lyford Drive to Tiburon Boulevard and Reed School (in background). No corrective action has been undertaken here.

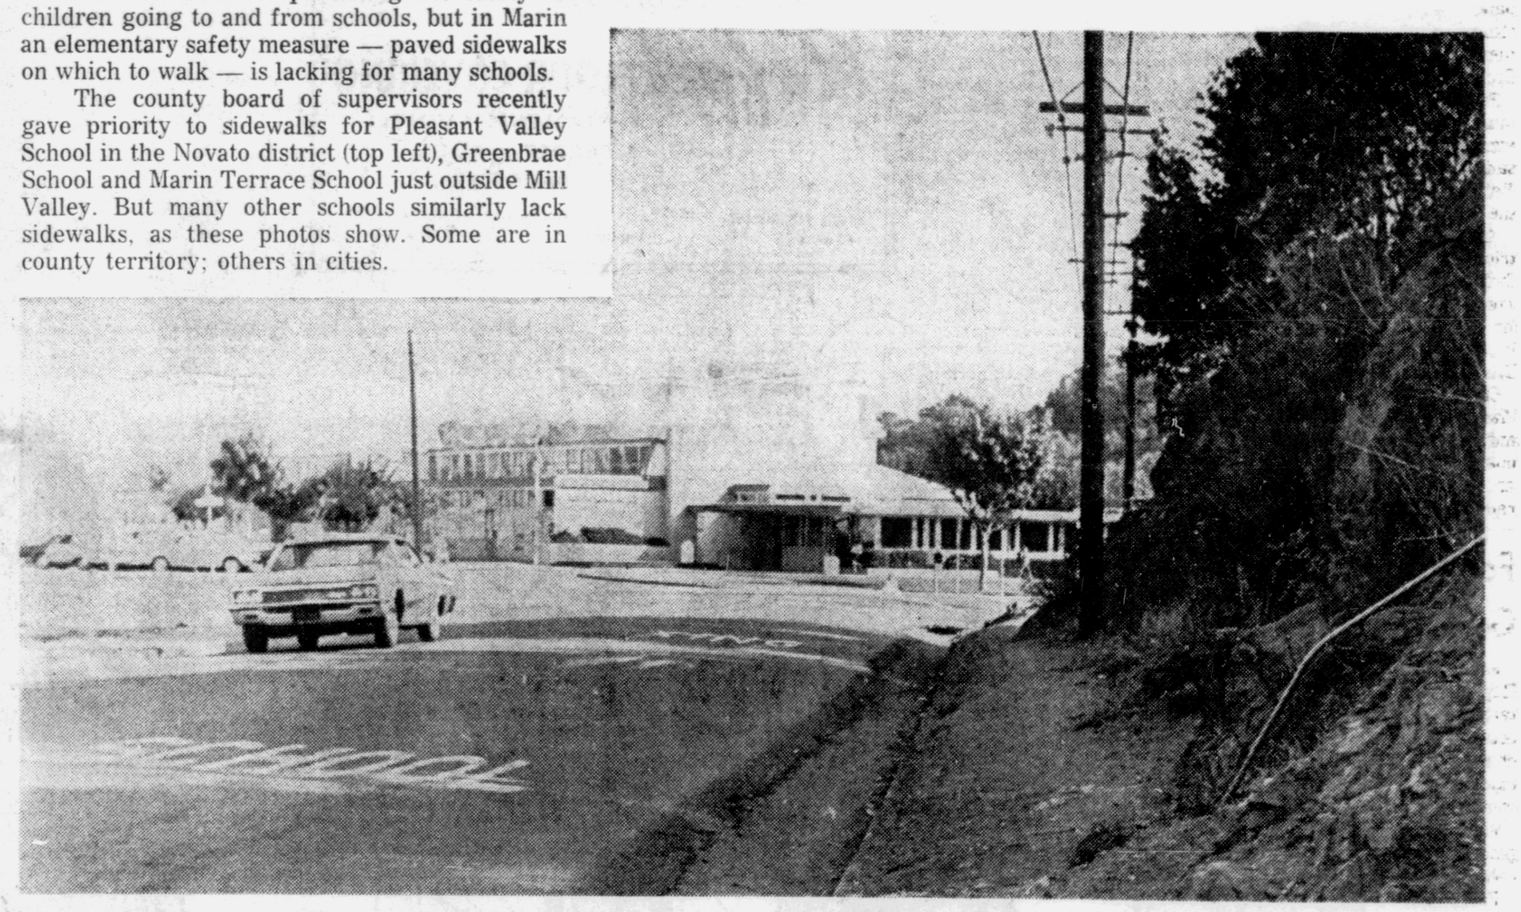
Lack Of Sidewalks Endangers Children

Much is made of protecting the safety of children going to and from schools, but in Marin an elementary safety measure — paved sidewalks on which to walk — is lacking for many schools.

The county board of supervisors recently gave priority to sidewalks for Pleasant Valley School in the Novato district (top left), Greenbrae School and Marin Terrace School just outside Mill Valley. But many other schools similarly lack sidewalks, as these photos show. Some are in county territory; others in cities.



IN SAN ANSELMO—Right in the heart of San Anselmo is Wade Thomas School. But paved sidewalk stops at the edge of school property. This sidewalkless pathway, rather pleasant now, is deep in mud when the rains come.



IN SAN RAFAEL — The Woodland Avenue approach to Davidson Junior High School in San Rafael lacks sidewalks on either side. In winter, rain pours down slope, runs across street, and submerges level dirty walkway on opposite side.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

OLIVE SCHOOL — Another Novato school without sidewalks is Olive School. Slope from fence forces children to walk in traffic to approach the school yard. Other Novato schools lacking sidewalks, besides Pleasant Valley — which is outside the city — include Hill and Sinaloa junior highs, Marian and Lynwood schools.

SUN VALLEY — Children approaching Sun Valley School in San Rafael on Happy Lane must follow this unpaved path or twice cross traffic to use opposite side of street. Providing sidewalks for schools has been largely overlooked both in Marin's incorporated cities and in the unincorporated territory. (Independent-Journal photos)

Water Main Bids Called By District

A rehabilitation package estimated at $92,500, about $20,000 higher than last year, was approved for bids yesterday by Marin Municipal Water District directors.

Bids will be opened at 1:30 p.m. Oct. 30, the next meeting of the board.

Projects in the 1968-69 improvement program include:

Replacing 775 feet of two-inch pipe with six-inch pipe on Melrose Avenue in Homestead Valley; 800 feet of six-inch pipe with eight-inch pipe on Tiburon Street in San Rafael; 560 feet of six-inch with six-inch on Mohawk Avenue in Corte Madera.

Replacing 1,350 feet of six-inch with six-inch on Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia; 680 feet of six-inch on Flamingo Road and Cardinal Court, Tamalpais Valley.

Replacing 490 feet of four-inch with four-inch on Ash Avenue, San Anselmo; 960 feet of four-inch with four-inch at Bothin and Manor roads in Fairfax; and new installation of 550 feet of 12-inch pipe at the Fairhills pump in San Rafael.

All costs will be borne by the district.

Marin Municipal Water District Also:

PIPE — Approved the $26,334 bid of American Pipe Construction Co., Union City, for a year's supply of pipe — a total of 9,500 feet.

CORROSION CONTROL — Accepted a bid of $4,897 for 505 magnesium anodes to control pipe corrosion fron California Pipe Co. of South San Francisco.

VARIANCE — Delayed action on a variance request from Robert K. Overstreet on Summit Drive in Corte Madera until he checks to see why his title company did not turn up the fact it would cost about $4,200 to get water to the home he is building. Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger had recommended the variance be denied.

PAVING — Approved paying half of $1,275 for paving the access road to the Santa Venetia tank with the owner of the land, Maurice D. Worley, to pay the other half.

DEEDS — Accepted deeds from General Investment Funds Real Estate Holding Co. for the new Holiday Inn, and the Alameda Homes Corp. in Terra Linda for pipeline extensions.

VARIANCES — Approved variances for water hook-ups for Paul Woelz on Terrace Avenue, San Rafael, and the Belvedere Land Co. on Tiburon Boulevard, Tiburon.

PHOENIX — Heard a report that the Phoenix Dam work is complete except for a control gauge which has not been delivered and recording instrument needed to comply with state regulations. A progress payment of $31,324 was approved.

SCOTT HIGHLANDS — Approved a payment for work at the Scott Highlands tank site totaling $3,627. Seeger reported the work is now complete.

QUITCLAIM — Granted a quitclaim to Robert S. Cary and Virginia A. Cary to correct a low pressure restriction on one lot in the Sky Ranch area of Fairfax.

FORBES HILL — Accepted a deed from American Savings and Loan Association for a pipeline extension from the Forbes Hill Reservoir.

OVERTIME — Heard a report from Seeger that there were 1,018 hours of overtime in the last fiscal year, compared to 702 the year before.

PROPOSITION 9 — Heard a statement from the Irrigation Districts Association opposing the Watson Amendment, Proposition 9 on the November ballot which would limit property tax support and bonding rights, but agreed to "give it some thought" before taking a stand. Board President R. G. Anderson has been out of the country and said he didn't feel qualified to judge.

PIPE SUIT — Authorized Seeger and Atty. Robert W. Elliott to see if the district purchased enough copper pipe from 1957 to 1962 to make it worthwhile to join other firms in intervening in a copper pipe antitrust suit in Philadelphia, Pa.

MEETINGS — Set the next meeting for Oct. 30 at 1:30 p.m., instead of Oct. 23, the regularly scheduled time.

Switchboard Sounds Call For Supplies

Switchboard of Marin, a volunteer organization organized to help people, is running out of supplies, according to Guy Bachelis, one of the organizers of the group.

Switchboard needs donations of stationery, file cards, typing paper, pens, pencils, note pads, stamps, envelopes and nourishment for persons on duty, Bachelis reported.

People call Switchboard 24 hours a day for information on every conceivable question, he said. "It's an incredible service. Yet there is no money to keep the body alive."

Anyone interested in contributing supplies can call Switchboard for directions. Those who wish to send funds for expenses can send them to P. O. Box 1346, San Rafael, Bachelis said.

Checks should be made out to Marin Fellowship for Unitarians and designated for the Switchboard, he said. Contributions are tax deductible, Bachelis reported.

Weeklies Sue Weekly, Charge Unfair Trade

A $203,000 suit charging unfair trade practices was filed in Marin Superior Court yesterday against the publishers of the weekly Herald-Tribune newspaper in Marin County.

The suit, brought by the John Luc Publishing Co., publisher of the Ebb Tide and the Corte Madera-Larkspur Courier, charges the Tribune is trying to force it out of business by selling advertisement space at a loss.

The suit was brought against Herald-Tribune Publishing Co., Herald-Tribune-Random Hill Publications, Random Hill Publications, Harold Gilbert, Frank Marchi and Harry Johnson, and 25 John Does.

The Luc company charges the Herald-Tribune publishers have been selling advertising space for less than it costs them and, in some cases, have been giving it away.

They sell the space as a "loss leader" for the purpose of "diverting the plaintiff's trade and hurting the plaintiff's business," the suit said.

The publishers also offer to some advertisers special privileges not offered to others and offer secret payments or allowances or rebates, refunds and unearned discounts, the suit charged.

The Herald-Tribune publishers also misrepresent their circulation to potential advertisers, according to the action.

As a specific example and separate action, the suit charges that Herald-Tribune publishers induced the owners of the Corner Market in Tiburon to breach their contract with the Ebb Tide by offering cheap advertising and offering to indemnify the market should it be held liable for the previous contract.

The actions seeks an order that the Herald-Tribune cease its alleged unfair trade practices and an order requiring publishers of that paper to post a bond to insure that they refrain from violations in the future.

It also seeks $50,000 damages and treble damages; plus $3,000 damages for the Corner Market contract and $50,000 exemplary damages as punishment for inducing a breach of contract.

As reported Monday in the Independent-Journal, Robert Carrow, former mayor of Novato and chairman of the Marin County Humphrey campaign, will represent Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Charles Michael, chairman of the Marin Republican Central Committee, will represent Richard M. Nixon, and a representative is expected from the campaign staff of George Wallace.

Sheriff Says Photos Impair Deputy's Job

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos fired deputy Weldon C. Travis solely because he posed nude for photographs nine years ago, according to a letter from the sheriff to the deputy.

The letter, released by lawyer David R. Baty, counsel for Travis, was dated Tuesday and told the deputy he was fired as of that date because:

"The posing for indiscreet photographs by you has, and will in the future, seriously hamper your effectiveness and impair your ability to act as a law officer."

Baty said his client will file an appeal of his dismissal by tomorrow and will request an open hearing before the Marin County Personnel Commission.

The commission must hear the case within 20 days of Travis' appeal.

The popular San Geronimo officer, president of the Marin County Deputy Sheriff's Association, posed nude for "figure study" photographs while a student at College of Marin in 1959, five years before he was hired by the sheriff.

Baty has said his client did not authorize publication of the photographs and is considering filing suit against the magazine in which one appeared.

Mountanos fired the deputy after an ananymous informer sent him a copy of the magazine, Baty said.

GI March Forces Lose Court Plea

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A U.S. District Court judge refused yesterday to ban inspections and drills planned for Saturday to keep Bay Area military personnel away from a peace march.

Judge Albert C. Wollenberg dismissed a request for a hearing and an injunction brought by three Hamilton Air Force Base men. Wollenberg said the judiciary scrupulously avoids interfering in legitimate military concerns.

Air Force Lt. Hugh F. Smith and Airman Michael R. Locks and Jacques Michaud, organizers of Saturday's GI and Vets March for Peace here, had charged that Air Force, Army and Navy base commanders in the area ordered inspections to block participation in the march protesting the Vietnam War.

The servicemen contended the military activities infringed their rights of free speech and assembly.

Military officials have said that servicemen leaving their bases to join the march would be subject to discipline for disobeying orders.

More Funds To Be Asked For Sidewalk

The Greenbrae Property Owners Association board, unhappy that the County of Marin will not pay half the cost of making Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Greenbrae safer for pedestrians, last night decided to write letters to all Greenbrae residents.

Mrs. James Staats, a member, said the letter will discuss the problem and all developments in an effort to find funds for the $23,500 project.

Supervisors agreed Tuesday to pay 26 per cent of the cost. Supervisors said construction of a sidewalk along Drake between Eliseo Drive and the large retaining wall between El Portal and Bon Air Road, and two other walks would be the best correction.

The association also scheduled its Oct. 31 children's Halloween parade to start at 6 p.m. from the intersection of Eliseo and Via La Cumbre and finish at Greenbrae School. Prizes will be given in four age categories.

The ninth annual Harvest Ball will be held Nov. 2 by the association at Peacock Gap Country Club, with dinner starting at 8 p.m. Richard Oslund in dinner-dance chairman.

Highway Patrol Studies Bids For A Steamer

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A plan to supply the California Highway Patrol with a steam-powered cruiser puffed another step closer today.

The patrol announced five manufacturers submitted proposals to furnish a steam-powered engine for the CHP to test as an alternative to smog-producing internal combustion engines.

The winning vendor's engine will be fitted into a new Oldsmobile chassis and body. The vehicle is expected to be tested next June. Depending on the results, the patrol may order another five test cars.

Manufacturers offering their engines were the Kinetics Corp., Sarasota, Fla.; DynaLear,Inc., Reno, Nev.; Berry Foster, Redondo Beach; Thermodynamic System, Inc., Inglewood; and Richard J. Smith and Karl A. Petersen, Midway City.

A blue gas tank was stolen Tuesday or early Wednesday from a motorcycle owned by Richard W. Johnson of 355 Canal Street, Apt. 7, San Rafael police said today.

Six Years For Woman's Death While On 'Trip'

LONDON (UPI)—Robert Lipman, a 36-year-old New Yorker accused of murdering a mini-skirted prostitute while in a "ghastly" LSD nightmare, today was found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to six years in prison.

The jury at London's Old Bailey reached a verdict after relatively brief consideration. The sentence was handed down with the recommendation that Lipman be deported after serving his sentence.

He was convicted of slaying Claudie DelBarre while battling "fire-breathing snakes" in a fit brought on by taking the hallucinogenic drug LSD.

CAL-VET LOANS

Vietnam 'Priorities' To Be Investigated

By CAPITOL NEWS SERVICE

SACRAMENTO—The Assembly State Personnel and Veterans Affairs Committee will investigate charges that a "priority listing" of veterans eligible for Cal-Vet farm and home loan, literally removes all World War I and II veterans from being granted loans under the program.

The charges followed a statement this week by H. J. Johnson, manager of the state Division of Farm and Home Purchases for the Department of Veteran Affairs, that Vietnam veterans "will be given first consideration for Cal-Vet loans.

It was pointed out that the program, which for years has had limited funds, now requires the World War I and II veterans to use their eligibility within the next two years. Many of them have made applications previously, but have not been successful because of the lack of funds.

Now they are faced with a two year deadline, but are among the last on the so-called "priority listing."

Assemblyman George W. Milias, R-Los Gatos, chairman of the Assembly Veterans Affairs Committee, said he intends to have the committee "look into this situation."

Johnson said, when questioned, that he determined the placing of Vietnam veterans in a priority category, "was the legislative intent" of the committee hearing the bill, SB 279, by Sen. George E. Danielson, D-Los Angeles, which raised the maximum loan on the Cal-Vet homes from $15,000 to $20,000.

Milias said, as chairman of the Assembly committee, he "did not gather such intent", but it "may be in line with some thinking and may be an academic question."

It was Johnson's contention that World War I and II veterans have had plenty of time to have made use of their loan eligibility.

Under the Danielson bill, signed into law Aug. 15 by Gov. Ronald Reagan, the World War I and II veterans will have two years to use their eligibility, while all other veterans must make use of their loans within 15 years of their discharge.

Johnson had made his statement before the California Real Estate Association meeting in San Francisco and was quoted as saying: "Those intending to use Cal-Vet for home financing may be frustrated by the delay in closing loans, which is inevitable whenever loan demand exceeds loan funds. This, unfortunately, is the situation so long as general obligation bonds, which produce Cal-Vet loan funds, cannot be marketed freely."

One legislative consultant, who asked to remain nameless, said the law was not intended "for any veteran to get preference over any other."

He also pointed out that by extending the time for World War II veterans to use their eligibility for two years, it was "obvious the Legislature intended not to cut these people off," which the priority system accomplishes.

A spokesman for Sen. Tom Carrell, D-Los Angeles, chairman of the Senate Military and Veterans Affairs Committee, which also heard the Danielson measure, said the bill was to provide "equal consideration for Vietnam veterans, but 'no' preference."

The bill itself merely added the Vietnem veterans to the list of those who are eligible for Cal-Vet loans and does not indicate a preference for veterans of any military action.

Drill Tower Landscaping Is Approved

Plans for landscaping around the drill tower and training facility at the Atherton Avenue site were presented to the Novato Fire District board last night by architects Gromme and Priestley.

The board, by a 3-0 vote approved the plans with Peter J. Ferrarese and Dante Panfiglio absent, according to Fire Chief George Cavallero.

When the Marin County Planning Commission approved the plans for the buildings on the site near Olive Avenue which is in the county, it required landscaping plans for the entire site, Cavallero said.

The Novato Fire District board also:

WATER — Awarded a $5,630 contract to the North Marin County Water District to install mains on the Atherton Avenue site to the drill tower and training room.

RENTAL — Rented surplus space for storage to Pacific Gas and Electric Co. for $1,800 per year at the Atherton Avenue site.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m., Oct. 23, when it will meet with the Novato City Council at the main fire station to discuss ambulance service in North Marin.

Mrs. Alliluyeva's memoirs, "Twenty Letters to a Friend," have attracted wide attention in serial and book form.

Employment Up In California

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California unemployment in September slumped to its lowest level since December 1959 while the number of workers holding jobs set a new record, the state Departments of Industrial Reations and Employment reported today.

The return to school of working students was credited for most of the employment upswing.

Employment climbed to a new high of 7.86 million during the month, an increase of 46,000 from August. Unemployment fell to 303,000, down 57,000 from the previous month.

Charles Gruenhagen Estate Value Set At $8,053,400

An estate valued at $8,053,400 was left by Charles T. Gruenhagen of Black Point, who died Sept. 27 in a local hospital after a long illness.

According to a petition for probate filed in Marin Superior Court yesterday, the former vice president of American Forest Products Corp. in San Francisco left real property worth $562,300 and personal property worth $7,520,900.

His fortune will be shared equally by a daughter, Mrs. James H. Kelley of Williams, Colusa County, and two grandsons, James G. Kelley of San Francisco and Charles K. Kelley of Lakeview, Ore., according to a will filed with the court.

The 82-year-old businessman left most of his fortune in blue chip stocks and bonds, according to the petition.

Gruenhagen had lived at 89 Harbor Drive, Black Point for the past seven years and in Mill Valley for 40 years prior to that.

The Kenney C. Gruenhagen wing of Marin General Hospital was named after his wife, who died in 1964. She and her husband made an anonymous donation of $500,000 to the hospital in 1963. The identity of the donors was announced after her death.

In 1965 Mrs. Gruenhagen's estate was appraised at $7,685,885, with her half of community property owned by her and her husband valued at $6,787,000.

She was the sister of San Francisco philanthropist Walter S. Johnson, who donated $2 million for reconstruction of the Palace of Fine Arts in that city.

Coins Stolen

A burglar yesterday entered the residence of Margaret L. Silman, 138 Hillside Drive, San Rafael, and stole $100 worth of coins and a radio valued at $110, San Rafael police said today.

Political Discussion Slated In Novato

The electorial college and direct primaries on the state and national levels, and Proposition 9, the Watson amendment which would strip welfare and educational of property taxes support, will be discussed at a public meeting by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, and Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest at 8 p.m. at the Novato Community House.

The Novato branch of the American Association of University Women is sponsoring this discussion by Bagley and Forest, a member of the County Democratic Central Committee. A question period will follow their discussion.

Schools In Chicago Hit By Unrest

CHICAGO (AP) — One high school was closed, fights broke out among students who walked out of another, and a boycott continued at a third yesterday in the third day of violence in Chicago schools.

Schools Supt. James F. Redmond said the schools would be open today.

Harrison High School on the West Side was closed after fires and fighting broke out. Negroes make up 55 per cent of the 3,300 enrollment at Harrison.

The trouble there started with a walkout by a group of Negro students demanding Afro-American history courses with Negro instructors, Negro counselors and a Negro assistant principal.

A group of Puerto Rican students then staged a walkout, saying they wanted more Puerto Ricans on the faculty.

Some youngsters ran through halls and classrooms, overturning desks, tipping lunchroom tables and smashing windows. Several fires were started in trash cans but were extinguished with little damage.

Police said a white girl was arrested in front of the school for carrying a gun, which she said she needed for protection.

Vehicle Donated

A new station wagon to be used to transport patients to outpatient clinics at Marin General Hospital has been donated to the hospital by DeLong Chevrolet, according to hospital officials.

Vigil Is Maintained Outside Red Court

MOSCOW (AP) — About 40 supporters of the accused maintained a vigil in the rain outside the courthouse today as the trial of five Soviet intellectuals entered its second day.

The five defendants, including Pavel Litvinov, grandson of a former Soviet foreign minister, are accused of organizing an illegal demonstration on Red Square Aug. 25 protesting the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

One of the accused, Mrs. Larisa Daniel, said on the stand yesterday that she felt it was necessary to express her opposition to the invasion. She said she did not feel she had broken any laws.

Mrs. Daniel's husband is serving a term in a labor camp for writings that authorities considered anti-Soviet.

Western correspondents are barred from the trial, but twice yesterday a court spokesman gave foreign newsmen some information on the proceedings.

Near the end of the first session, he said, the five had admitted the facts of the case "but still consider themselves innocent."

They are accused of violating public order and slandering the Soviet Union. The offense carries a penalty of up to three years in prison.

In addition to Litvinov and Mrs. Daniel, the defendants are Vadim Delone, a student; Konstantin Babitsky, a linguist, and Vladimir Dremlyuga, unemployed.

Delone is on probation for taking part in an earlier demonstration and because of this could get a four-year term.

An official of the Moscow city courts, who has been acting as spokesman for authorities during the trial, briefed five foreign correspondents on the morning proceedings.

Asked whether the political aspects of the trial are being emphasized by the prosecution, he replied: "This trial deals with a disturbance of public order."

He said signs carried by the demonstrators have not been submitted yet as evidence so that the trial has retained a nonpolitical tone. The article under which the five are charged is considered a criminal offense. Persons convicted of violating it usually are sent to camps for common criminals, not political offenders.

In early afternoon the crowd outside the courthouse was reinforced by about 100 workers who surrounded friends of the defendants when they talked with correspondents. The conversations were not interrupted however.

MRS. ALAN Cranston was honored at a luncheon yesterday at the Kent Estate. She discusses the importance of women in a campaign with Mrs. Gene Tunney Jr. of San Francisco, Northern California women's chairman, and Mrs. Pierre Austin of San Rafael, women's co-chairman for the Marin County chapter of Californians for Cranston.

Mrs. Alan Cranston Honored At Marin Luncheon Yesterday

By JOAN LISETOR

It was beautiful and sunny when Mrs. Alan MacGregor Cranston arrived yesterday at the Kent Estate for a luncheon in her honor.

More than 160 women, and a few men, waited until the wife of the Democratic nominee for the United States Senate arrived, an hour late because there was no place at the airport for her plane to land.

THE LUNCHEON, served on the terrace of the Kent Woodlands home, is her only scheduled visit to Marin County on behalf of her husband's campaign.

Following the lunch, Geneva Cranston addressed the group informally, saying her husband was the speaker in the family, but she is a much better cook. An unpretentious woman with a dry sense of humor, she explained that campaigning is not so terrible, but when it is all over she is going to have to learn to be a housewife again.

In a few minute's chat with Mrs. Cranston we discussed the campaign and how it has affected the Cranstons and their sons Rob, 20, and Kim, 17.

"In pre-campaign days we had time for quiet evenings at home. We both enjoy reading, but those days are gone. In Alan's past campaigns I have felt I could best help by simply trying to have ample shirts and handkerchiefs ready for each trip and by trying to be casual when he said he wouldn't be home for three days or that dinner would be at 10 instead of seven.

"But I have changed my mind. This campaign is the most important event in our lives, and because of the particular kind of opponent Alan faces, I think it is a terribly important event for California. So I am traveling and offering my services to women's groups."

MRS. CRANSTON is no newcomer to public life. Her background includes soliciting support on Capitol Hill in Washington for socially-important legislation, helping a nationally syndicated newspaper columnist get out his daily column and working for author Pearl Buck.

The former Geneva McMath was born in Berkeley, where her father was working on a master's degree at the University of California. The family did a great deal of moving during her pre-college days because her school official father was moving upward from post-to-post in the California school system. After Geneva's graduation from San Diego High School, the family moved to Santa Ana, where she proceeded to get ready for college.

Getting ready meant two years of living at home and working as a secretary and a bank teller, saving every cent she could. There is pride in her voice when she says, "I saved $2,000 in those two years. I guess that would be comparable to $4,000 or $5,000 today."

She entered Pomona College, and when the savings dwindled, she supported herself as a waitress, by typing papers for other students and by doing other chores, which did not pay very well but saved the day for a self-supporting student.

During her college years she had no specific goal in mind.

"I FELT deeply about doing something constructive," she recalls. "I was idealistic, and I still am, but I don't think I was starry-eyed. The hard work of making my own way kept me pretty well in touch with the practicalities of life."

GENEVA CRANSTON describes herself as an outdoorsy type, but campaigning for her husband, the Democratic nominee for the Senate, has left her little time for golf and swimming.

The Cranstons first met at Pomona College, but it was what Geneva calls a brief crossing of paths.

"Alan spent his first year at Pomona before transferring to Stanford," she says, "I knew him by sight, but we never got acquainted."

They were introduced several years later when Geneva was employed by the telephone company in Los Angeles. Alan had recently returned from Europe, where he was a correspondent for International News Service, and friends, who realized they had mutual interests, introduced them.

He went to New York to work on a book, but made a return trip to Los Angeles, and they were married on Nov. 6, 1940. Shortly after their marriage, they moved to Washington, D.C., where Alan went to work for the Common Council for American Unity. The pay was slight so Mrs. Cranston went to work. She worked as a lobbyist against discriminatory legislation and is particularly proud of her work for Pearl Buck to repeal the Chinese Exclusion Act during World War II.

THE CRANSTONS hit a high point financially during this period, as Alan was chief of the Foreign Language Division of the Office of War Information, but in 1944 he turned down further government deferment and enlisted in the Army as a private.

It was his private's pay of $90-a-month that prompted her to look for a job. She went to work for the New York Post, helping a columnist with his daily stint.

"The columnist was in California much of the time and some days he was lean on ideas. I would file a column to him from New York and after doctoring it to fit his own preferences, he would file it back the same night to his New York newspaper outlet," she recalls. "It was fun, and it also gave us enough income to be able to afford a telephone."

When asked if the lean-on-ideas columnist was actor Orson Welles, Mrs. Cranston said she would rather not name him because that would be "like kissing and telling."

The couple returned to California in 1947, and politics became an important part of their lives. In 1958 Mr. Cranston was elected state controller, and the family moved to Sacramento.

THEY LIVED on six-and-a-half acres on the outskirts of Sacramento with an animal farm of more than 100 animals, ranging from dogs and cats to ducks and goats.

IN EAST AFRICA

Vivid Color, History Mark Coast

Third of a series on a return trip to East Africa.

By BARBARA HOSMER

The tropical surf splashes against the beach, casting up warm-water shells, and across the horizon where clouds pile up a fleet of Arab dhows furls sails, heading for port with the daily catch.

The Kenya coast is the traditional playground for East Africans who come to get a breather from the altitudes and to dabble their toes in the Indian Ocean. The 126 miles of coast running from below Mombasa north along a passable road to Malindi are sprinkled with beach resorts and private clubs, ranging from mere fishing camps to good hotels. Uncrowded as yet, all have beach frontage, and the better ones around Malindi have inviting fresh water swimming pools and deck areas for taking the sun while enjoying tea and cool drinks.

In the dining rooms African waiters routinely serve the seven courses with Kenya cheeses and coffee to top off the meal. Lunch, too, is an elegant hot meal or the typical buffet of cold cuts and lobster.

But the beach life is relaxed and dress is casual in the usually hot climate. The coast attracts mainly Kenya's European families, who luxuriate in the novelty of the warm ocean waters and surf on dwarf boards about one-quarter the size of California's.

Americans perhaps know the Malindi area best as the place in the film "Born Free" where the Adamsons took the lioness Elsa swimming in the ocean.

BUT THE COAST is not animal country. It is populated by Swahili, Giryama and other small tribes who raise maize, bananas, mangoes and keep goats and cattle, the women doing most of the work as is traditional in African families. Small boys in ragged shorts tend the animals, each carrying a staff far taller than he is, while the parents hoe weeds in the fields surrounding the family home of mud and thatched huts. Gigantic chickens scratch around the grassy edges of the swept-dirt compounds.

Along the main road the women walk barefooted, balancing loads of sticks, baskets of melons and bananas or a lone bottle set on a woven palm ring on their heads. The smallest baby is secured to the back with a bright shawl knotted in front. And the Giryama women are distinctively topless and wear dry grass bustles under their bright-patterned skirts. The picture is wildly pleasing as the deep reds, violent yellows and blues of their wrap-around dresses contrast with the lush grove of banana and mango trees and shoulder-high grass through which they pass. They talk and laugh in threes and fours along the way and return a good-natured wave at a passing car.

Once they've covered the five or 10 miles to town — a single street of five or six plaster and iron roofed shops — they barter their goods or shillings with the butcher, repair man and general goods duka clerk. There is time to relax on the porch of the store for an easy exchange with relatives and friends before raising the basket of purchases to the head and turning again toward the shamba. A herd of cattle is beng driven through the street, filling the town completely, and a European car waits at the gas pump and they must be stared at and remarked upon first. . .

THE SHORT WALK from the beach resorts into Malindi reveals it to be doing a leisurely business on a generally relaxed countryside. As the largest coastal town north of Mombasa, 68 miles away, Malindi offers a six block area of tea stands, branch banks, filling stations, curio shops and small dukas. A robed Arab tinkers at his watch repair trade, seated at the doorway of his shop, and next door Indian boys efficiently run the family duka, which sells loose rice, maize meal and wheat flour by the pound, along with wooden matches, batteries, cloth, sweets, cooking utensils, spices, or whatever you need.

Across from it is another row of wooden dukas offering bicycle parts, foods and some of the gayest print fabrics in East Africa. Each single-room store is piled to the ceiling with its specialty, and the yardage — dyed in India, Japan or England to African tastes — is a dizzying stack of neat bolts which the merchant eagerly spreads out for the customer, while samples hang like wild flags from ropes across the ceiling and outside the entrance above the puddles in the street.

AN ARAB REPAIRS your watch, an Indian sells you cloth, a Wakamba shows you how he whittles the wood-carving for which his tribe is noted, a Portuguese woman does your banking, an Englishman orders your lobster lunch at his fishing resort. The beauty and abundance of the East African coast has attracted this variety of peoples for centuries. Kenya school children learn that the Arabs were the first overseas visitors, coming many centuries B.C. They sailed in to settle along the coast, and intermarried with the Bantus, creating the people called Swahili who are the majority on the coast. Their Arabic-Bantu language mixture formed the Swahili that is now the lingua franca of all East Africa.

Ivory, slaves, spices and incense attracted Hindus, Egyptians, Greeks, Chinese, Romans, Phoenicians and Assyrians also, but it was the Arabs who left a permanent stamp on coastal culture.

AS YOU STUMBLE through the moss-encrusted stone ruins of a 14th century Arab town at Gedi and peer into the murky depths of the wells, you wonder what sort of life went on within the tumbled walls. Arabic carved inscriptions, the pointed Shirazi arches and few artifacts found in the ruins, some eight miles south of Malindi, verify that it was once an active town during the Zenj empire of Arab rule, which lasted from 475 to 1500 A.D. The palace, mosque and houses can still be made out from the remaining carved stone and coral walls. And excavated earthernware jars and fine china plate shards and jewelry in the nearby little museum give clues to the happenings at Gedi and other Arab settlements. Apparently a sheikh lived in the palace and held a daily meeting with the people in the audience room — the only rudimentary government. The meat and rice meals were served on fine china, and cowrie shells from nearby beaches were used as money.

But no one really knows just who the people were or why their town was vacated. Now a national monument, Gedi has been partially excavated by scientists, but today carts and tracks stand idle, abandoned when funds ran out.

Now the only movement among the tumbled, silent walls is from a trail of ants, a few birds and an occasional green tree snake zipping after a lizard. And one feels the surrounding forest ready to bend in to reclaim its domain and blot away the sunlight.

FARTHER DOWN the coast, a scant block from the old Arab section of Mombasa, the battle-pocked walls of Fort Jesus tell the story of the Portuguese struggle to control the coast as a stopping place for ships on their trade route to India. Portugal gained her foothold shortly after Vasco da Gama in 1498 rounded the Cape of Good Hope and sailed up the coast to drop anchor in Mozambique, Mombasa and Malindi on his voyage to discover a seaway to India and open the trade route to the east. Fearing Mombasa to be hostile, he landed at Malindi and picked up a Hindu guide. The King of Malindi was friendly, hoping for Portuguese protection from the Arab rulers at Mombasa.

With the Mohammedan sultans of the coast quarreling, the Portuguese returned and within seven years had subjected Zanzibar, Mozambique, Malindi, Lamu, Kilwa and Mombasa, which was set afire first. But Pemba and Mombasa did not allow Portugal to rule peacefully. For punishment the Portuguese governor of India enlisted help from Zanzibar's native army and again burned Mombasa and its coconut plantations. Finally rebels in Pemba killed all the Portuguese on the island in one bloody night, and Ali Bey, a Turkish pirate, was welcomed by Mombasa and drove the Portuguese out. Then a Bantu tribe began to march north to Mombasa, but Portugal held the fort.

FOR THE NEXT two centuries the oppressive Portuguese and the Mohammedans fought it out, the Portuguese using their forts as strongholds and making Mombasa the capital of their East African possessions. To strengthen it against Turkish attack from the north they enlisted masons from India and laborers from friendly Malindi to build Fort Jesus in 1593, and its captain became Portuguese ruler of all East African possessions.

But the bloody uprising continued from the Arabs against their Christian rulers, with massacres and burning in Mombasa. The fight was not over Africa alone, but domination of trade in the Indian Ocean, where British, French and Dutch ships had begun to appear. Back and forth between Arab and Portuguese the control of Mombasa shifted. Finally at the close of the 17th century the Sultan of Oman in southeast Arabia brought his navy and sacked Mombasa, laying siege to Fort Jesus which lasted for 33 months. The 2,500 Portuguese of the fort were without food, water or help inside the thick

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'Hoping To Help' Hopes She Might Join A Rare Blood Club

DEAR HELEN:

I have a rare blood type. I've heard of a Rare Blood Club where you can sign up to donate blood for others of your type. Could you tell me more about it and how to get in touch? — HOPING TO HELP

DEAR H.T.H.:

The address of the National Rare Blood Club is 164 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y., 10010. If you are between 18 and 21 you must have a parent's or guardian's consent to donate blood. Under 18? Perhaps you can assist by rounding up adult members.

This exclusive club seeks to register the 25 per cent of the population having rare blood, so that in times of emergency a donor will be available immediately. Members provide their blood free to any patient who needs it. They have helped save hundreds of lives since the club was formed in 1960. — H.

PERSONAL TO "BE SERIOUS": It's been said "A joke is the most pleasant way of telling the truth and a laugh is the best way of agreeing." Smile, child! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I don't exactly defend teen-age drinking, but I understand why a lot of us do. You feel frustrated, always trying to say what people expect you to say, hiding what you really feel. When you drink, you can tell the truth and people don't hold it against you. They make allowances because you were bombed. Often I haven't had as much as they think, but I pretend, so I can get things off my chest. — TRUTHFUL JOHN

DEAR JOHN:

One too many, and you'll also get things off your stomach! I can think of better roads to honesty; courage from a bottle evaporates mighty fast, my friend. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I used to be a big believer in the 18-year-old vote, but after watching the two national conventions, I've begun to think, "What's the use?" The people don't elect their candidates. Even if we could vote, all we do is send a bunch of delegates to the convention, and they are handpicked by the big politicians, who tell them how to vote. I'm sure I speak for the majority of people (not just the young people) who are completely disillusioned, repulsed, sickened and cynical after what they saw and heard this summer. This is a democracy?

It's said that only 49 per cent of United States citizens between the ages of 21 and 30 are registered to vote this year. Now I can see why. They know already what I found out: Our government is "of, by and for the politicians," not the people! — YOUNG CYNIC

DEAR CYNIC:

Few would blame you for feeling as you do. But you can't change things by going cynical and moaning "What's the use?" TV, newspapers and magazines have "told it like it is." Now it's up to you, the young generation, to "make it like it should be."

Another thing: You're condemning all politics because you can't vote for the president of your choice. But you can elect congressmen, state legislators, city officials . . . later on you can even run for their offices. To claim we are not a democracy because we've outgrown a lumbering convention and electoral college system is like condemning a whole building because the ground floor needs a redecoration job.

Many times the late Senator Robert Kennedy cautioned, "Don't ask 'Why?' (of a bad situation) without adding, 'What can I do to change it?' " — Follow in his footsteps! — H.

Ride Bicycles For Health

NEW YORK (UPI)—Maybe you haven't noticed it, but bicycling is gaining new popularity in the United States.

It's all to the good, says the Health Insurance Institute, so long as the nation's 61 million bicycle riders know what they're doing and where they're going. Dr. Harry Johnson, director of New York's Life Extension Institute, says such exercise is good for the big muscles of the legs and, what is more important, stimulates the circulatory system.

Use Blender

Your blender makes super-easy work of delectable Creole Fillets. Separate 1 pound whitefish fillets (either fresh or frozen, thawed). Divide fish equally among 4 large squares heavy duty aluminum foil. Meanwhile, place in blender containing 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce; ½ small onion, coarsely cut up; ½ small green pepper, coarsely cut up; and 1 tablespoon dry Caesar salad dressing mix. Cover; blend at high speed for 6 seconds or until smooth. Pour over fillets. Bring foil up around fillets and wrap tightly. Seal edges securely so none of the sauce can leak out. Bake at 350° for 15 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

EAST AFRICA: A Colorful Coast

At last they surrendered and the whole east coast came under Omani Arab rule, the Portuguese withdrawing to Mozambique, the oldest European colony in Africa and the scene of unrest today. The Omani sultan transferred his capital to Zanzibar and overthrew the Mombasa Muzrai governor to win Fort Jesus.

The sultan, eager to develop East Africa, granted trade concessions to European countries. British and Indian merchants dominated the trade from the 1850's on, and European countries began to partition East Africa. In 1884 the British laid claims to the "hinterlands" of Mombasa, while the Germans moved inland to the Mt. Kilimanjaro area.

TODAY FORT JESUS is a peaceful monument with a sun-filled courtyard containing a crumbling prison, a museum of relics and the flag of independent Kenya flying overhead.

To the south the warm waters wash bar-sugar white sands while monkeys play in the palms. To the north the ferry men dance to conch shell toots while they hand pull their cable barge across the river. And cashew trees, cassava and sisal grow in the fields stretching away to the west.

Surely one of the beauty spots of the world, the Kenya coast someday may easily rival the Mediterranean as an attraction to vacationing sun-seekers.

CRANSTON

"Our Sacramento home was hard to leave," the nominee's wife says.

Today the Cranstons live in a comfortable home high on a hill in the Bel Air area of Los Angeles, which features an architectural openness and satisfies Mrs. Cranston's love of nature.

"It is quite rural," she says, "and we have deer and quail. However, we are close enough to the University of California at Los Angeles so that Alan can go over to the track and run his mile every day."

Alan and Geneva Cranston are outdoors people. She is fond of swimming

Mrs. Cranston says she is looking forward to the election and the day after, Nov. 6, which happens to be the Cranston's 28th wedding anniversary.

"If anyone wants to remember us on our anniversary," she says wryly, "we would appreciate their doing it at the polls."

$1.55 Million For A Renoir Scene Of Paris

The price 61-year-old Los Angeles industrialist Morton Simon paid for Renoir's "Bridge of the Arts" was more than five times the previous record price of $299,600 for one of the artist' works.

Pissarro's "View of the Tuileries Gardens", painted in 1899, also brought a record price. An unidentified private collector paid $260,000 for the painting, topping the previous record by $96,210.

A 1906 landscape by Picasso was knocked down to an unidentified Swiss collector for $430,000, only $102,000 less than the auction record.

Auctioneer John Marion sold 10 paintings in all for a total of $3.745 million in the 25-minute auction at the Parke-Bernet Galleries. The average of $374,500 per painting bettered the previous record average of $312,000 for a sale of French Impressionist works by more than $60,000.

Seven of the paintings, including the Renoir and the Pissarro, were offered for sale by New York actor Clifford Klenk and his wife, an heiress to Thomas Fortune Ryan's railroad-coal-tobacco-insurance fortune. The other three were put on sale by Brandeis University.

A representative of the university paid $500,000 to buy back one of its paintings, a Monet portrait of his first wife, rather than see it go for less Informed sources said Brandeis had hoped to get $750,000 for the painting.

Other purchasers included:

'Misanthrope' Returns To Broadway

At the Lyceum, the Association of Producing Artists returns to peak form with a sparkling, crisp interpretation of Moliere's "The Misanthrope."

As an honest man trapped in a world of artificiality and humbug, Richard Easton centers the classic satire with a forthright approach that affords a perfect foil for the arch conceits that abound about him.

Under Stephen Porter's direction, the cast achieves an ensemble portrayal that imbues these ghosts from Renaissance France with fresh relevancy. The rhymed couplet translation of Richard Wilbur comes off with casual flexibility and the pleated-drape costuming by Nancy Potts extends the genial mood. One to see.

Over at the Golden Theater, an entertainment of far more limited appeal got under way, "The Megilla of Itzik Manger."

The show begins in Tel Aviv and is a loosely modernized version of the Biblical book of Esther. The six performers of the cast spend most of their time changing hats to represent a baffling assortment of characters who mime weakly and sing like weekend guests.

The affair proceeds mostly in Yiddish, with some atrocious English bridges recited by Mike Burstein, who alone in the cast can be admired for youthful verve and some degree of professionalism.

The third opening comprises a reprise of two off-Broadway favorites in the new repertory at the Billy Rose theater, "Krapp's Last Tape" by Samuel Beckett and "Zoo Story" by Edward Albee. Small, taut and emotionally explosive, the pieces merit another look for the fine solo work by Donald Davis in the opener, and the forensic duel of David and Ben Piazza in the other.

Chamber Group To Play In San Francisco

Wynn Westover of Sausalito and his Westover Chamber Orchestra will present a free public concert Sunday at 3 p.m. in the main theater of the San Francisco College for Women in San Francisco.

The concert is sponsored by the Black Madonna, a Black American art and culture organization.

Westover will conduct the Mozart Piano Concert No. 19 in F Major, art songs of Handel, Purcell and Mozart and the Barber Adagio for Strings. Randall Horton, coordinator for the Black Madonna and director of its music workshop, will be guest conductor for the Kreisler Violin Concerto.

Violinist Floyd Peterson of Marin County is a member of the orchestra.

Twenty-five per cent of all retail sales in the United States are automotive, according to the National Automobile Club.

Art And Garden Board To Name Two Directors

Two persons will be elected to the board of directors of the Marin Art and Garden Center at the center's annual meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the Livermore Room of the Northgate building at the center.

Voting will also take place during the day at the center office from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Those holding 1968 center membership cards as well as members of the Decorations Guild, Marin Society of Artists, Pixie Parents, Northgate Group and Ross Valley Players are eligible to vote.

Winning Collages On Display In Novato

SAN FRANCISCO DEFENDED

Doctor Challenges 'Suicide Capital' Tag

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A University of California researcher has seriously challenged the contention that San Francisco is the "suicide capital" of the nation.

Dr. Richard H. Seiden, behavioral sciences professor, agrees that the presence of older people, the high incidence of alcoholism and easy access to bridges — along with excellent case-finding procedures—all contribute to the city's high suicide rate.

But he contends that the city is so small geographically (45 square miles compared to New York City's 320 square miles) that comparisons with other major cities aren't always valid.

"It has been demonstrated that suicide rates are highest in those areas nearest the central city, and that they grow progressively lower as one moves toward the suburbs. Consequently, San Francisco's limited size produces a higher suicide rate than is found in cities of larger area," Seiden writes in the medical journal Modern Medicine.

The scientist also refutes the "end of the trail" thesis, which holds that disillusioned newcomers, have chased the rainbow as far westward as they can, find they still have the same frustrations and are driven to destroy themselves.

Seiden said a review of death certificates shows that the vast majority of suicides over a period of seven years were committed by longtime residents of San Francisco.

Although Seiden concedes the city's bridges are a factor in impulsive suicides, the Golden Gate Bridge—contrary to popular belief—is not the city's most frequent suicide site.

Suicide by jumping is the third most frequent method in San Francisco and ranks seventh nationally, but leaps from the Golden Gate Bridge account for only 5 per cent of the city's suicides.

Ingestion of poisonous substances, especially barbiturates, is the most frequent method of suicide in San Francisco, accounting for 33 per cent of the total.

Seiden says there is considerable evidence that alcohol is an important factor in San Francisco's high suicide rate, for the city is afflicted with a high rate of alcoholism as well.

He points out also that California's state capital, Sacramento, which has the second highest rate of alcoholism in the nation, also has the second highest rate of suicide.

Antipoverty Policy Panel Is Selected

A volunteer committee of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council was established last night to set policy on community participation in antipoverty work.

Victor H. Cary, EOC executive director, said he asked the EOC board to create the committee in an effort to avoid controversy such as erupted when the EOC sought to expand into the San Geronimo Valley last year.

Cary said the committee would recommend methods to obtain community representation on the EOC board. He said this might be done through elections of various neighborhood organizations.

Discussion with local groups would also afford the EOC a chance to determine neighborhood needs, Cary said, with the possibility of creating EOC boards at the local level.

In other business last night, Cary said, the EOC board expressed a need for training in parliamentary procedure and EOC procedure. The board was expanded to 35 members this summer under congressional revisions to the federal antipoverty act.

John Brown and William Council, representing Western Community Action Training Inc., spoke to the board.

The next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Oct. 30 in the Catholic Social Services office on Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

San Franciscan Hurt By Motorcycle Skid

Clement Vincent Angeli, 40, of San Francisco, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with face cuts and multiple bruises received when his motorcycle overturned near Bolinas last night, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The accident occurred at 11:50 p.m. on the Bolinas-Olema Road, the patrol said, when Angeli hit gravel on a curve near Upper Road.

Agreement On Stiff Penalties For LSD

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House-Senate conferees agreed yesterday on legislation to set stiff federal penalties for possession or use of LSD and certain other drugs without a doctor's prescription.

The conference committee accepted the Senate version of the bill, which provides punishment of up to a year in prison and a $1,000 fine for first and second offenses, with up to three years and $10,000 for subsequent convictions.

Intra-County Bus System Sidetracked

Marin Transit District directors, faced with unenthusiastic responses from cities, last night delayed any move toward planning intra-county bus service.

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst of Corte Madera, a director, said he and eight other mayors felt that evaluation of a local bus system should await results of three studies now under way.

THREE STUDIES

Studies now in progress are a balanced transportation study, a ferry study and the district's own work program.

"There is no question there will be inter-city transit, but we'll have to wait for guidelines," Colthurst said.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss noted that replies from cities to a district query on local bus transit "did not give encouragement" to proceed.

CRITICAL FACET

The Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau, in a letter read by its executive director, Carroll A. Snyker, said in terms of the transit problem generally, it felt "commute transit is the more critical facet" and should "have the first lien against available finances."

"We are inclined to be skeptical about the need for intra-county transit for employment, shopping and social purposes beyond what is already furnished," the chamber said.

The Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce wrote that its primary concern was for improvement of highways in its area and there should be "safe roads" there before "there will be any need for extended bus service out this way."

Some of the cities said they would be willing to recommend routes and studies for such a study, but none were willing to contribute financially.

AGAINST FUNDING

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer said cities shouldn't have to contribute funds, but the district sought cooperation in studying routing and needs.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, district chairman, concluded that the response of the cities was "to complete present stydies before we go too deep into this."

Directors heard a report about the operation of a mini-bus system, 17-passenger buses, in Redwood City from Henry V. Burget, assistant city manager of Redwood City.

Burget said the system has attracted almost 1,200 passengers a day and the annual loss will be much lower than the expected $100,000 a year.

Y. T. Sesaki, district projects engineer, showed how such a system might be applied in Marin with six routes running from the San Rafael area.

One route could go from San Rafael to Larkspur over Wolfe Grade; another along the Miracle Mile to Red Hill in San Anselmo; another through the apartment area along Woodland Avenue to the Canal Street-Kerner Boulevard area; another out Third Street to Glenwood, one from the Civic Center to the senior citizen housing in Santa Venetia, and another from the Civic Center to the Northgate shopping area.

Petaluma Joint Rec Plan Eyed

The need to develop a joint plan for city park and recreation areas and Petaluma schools was discussed last night at a meeting called by the Petaluma Planning Commission.

Representatives of Petaluma and Old Adobe School districts agreed to meet further with the city park and recreation and planning commissions to better coordinate plans for parks and schools.

"As two taxpayer agencies, we don't want to duplicate facilities, but develop a good general plan where we'll get the most for our money," said Richard W. Schollenberger, director of Petaluma parks and recreation.

He noted that in the city, many parks are already adjacent to schools, but said a plan will be necessary to insure that this policy is continued in future building programs.

Schollenberger said Old Adobe School District outside the city will be more of a problem since it has only 10 acres of play area for 1,600 elementary students.

He said cooperation has been excellent in the joint use of play areas and recreational facilities, but an agreement should be reached to promote the concept.

Guilty Plea Entered To Drunken Driving

Elizabeth Martin, 61, of 74 Millside Lane, Mill Valley, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court today to a charge that she drove while drunk Sunday on Paradise Drive in Corte Madera.

Judge Hadden W. Roth fined her $150 and placed her on six months of probation.

Workshop On Retardation Set Oct. 19

"Changing Attitudes Toward Mental Retardation" will be the theme of a workshop sponsored by the Marin Aid to Retarded Children from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 19 at the San Geronimo Country Club, according to officials of the organization.

Dr. Ivy Mooring, director of the Mental Retardation Services Board, Los Angeles, will be the featured speaker.

Other participants will be Marin County Supervisor Peter H. Behr, Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein, Dr. David Fisher, director of the Behavior Therapy Institute, Sausalito; Dr. Daniel A. Collins of Mill Valley, and H. David Sokoloff of San Rafael.

Schooling Show Is Slated Sunday

A fall schooling show will be held by the Marin Mounted 4-H Club Sunday beginning at 8:30 a.m. on the grounds of the San Geronimo Horsemen's Association, according to Mrs. Frank M. Wilson, advisor.

Judge for both English and western classes will be Cliff Ellingson. Admission is free.

236 Exams Show Lung Disorders

Evidences of lung abnormalities were present in eight of the 236 chest X-rays taken Sept. 26 at the San Rafael Recreation Center, according to the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Reports of these films have been sent to private physicians who will contact their own patients.

Also reported were 26 films which showed cardiovascular, spinal or other abnormalities. Reports of all people whose lungs appeared satisfactory have been mailed to them by the association.

Transit Panel Opposes Abandoning Rail Line

Marin County Transit District directors last night opposed abandonment of Northwestern Pacific Railroad's branch line from Corte Madera through Sausalito.

There was little discussion before the board voted, with Peter H. Behr noting that opposition was the consensus of a meeting last month by representatives of cities and industries.

Behr reported general agreement was reached at the Sept. 23 meeting that continuation of freight services by Northwestern Pacific to Sausalito was desirable in the overall interest of the county.

Directors voted that the district should intervene before the state Public Utilities Commission in opposition to the railroad's application to abandon the line.

Directors also received a request from the Marin Senior Coordinating Council to provide a bus for its shuttle service.

Ed Ryken, executive director, explained that the council is operating one-day-a-week shuttle bus service for residents of Venetia Oaks, the Marin County Housing Authority's senior citizen housing project in Santa Venetia.

The council hasn't been able to get a vehicle suitable for its purposes and the need for transportation for senior citizens is severe, Ryken said.

Charles Convis, of the council board, said there is a need for transportation to "doctors, shops and recreation," and with a bus the council could serve more senior citizens.

The board also received a request from Social Workers Union, Local 535, that vocational services funds be used to buy a bus to transport vocational trainees between various county locations and the Civic Center.

Supervisor Ernest N. Ketenhofen, district chairman, said both requests would be studied by the staff and a report made at the district's Nov. 6 meeting.

The Marin Transit District board also:

TIMETABLES — Approved work by the staff to design bus stop signs and a timetable which will reflect more clearly the bus runs between San Francisco and communities in Marin.

SURVEY — Approved the distribution of a card questionnaire to Marin commuters, subject to review of the questions, estimated to cost the district $4,000.

COMMITTEE — Instructed Seymour Kashin, district general manager, to "to answer questions only" when he attends a hearing by the Assembly Transportation and Commerce Committee hearing on solutions to the San Francisco-Marin crossing problems at 10 a.m. Oct. 23 in Room 1194, State Building, San Francisco.

STUDENT NEEDS — Received a letter from Frank A. Cassou, director of business services, Tamalpais Union High School District, requesting that the needs of student transportation be included in the district's work program for 1968-69.

MOVING COST — Approved the transfer of $2,000 from the reserve fund to finance office equipment and furnishings when the district office is moved to new quarters in the Hall of Justice.

Bay Area Couple Die In Swiss Fire

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — A San Francisco financier and his wife were among 10 persons killed when fire destroyed a downtown hotel in Zurich yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bartle, who lived in Orinda in the East Bay, were the only Americans to lose their lives in the blaze.

Bartle was a partner in the firm of Bartle Wells Associates, municipal financial consultant firm.

Drivers To Compete In Truckers' Rodeo

Three drivers for a San Rafael cement company will compete Saturday in a truck rodeo at the Southland Shopping Center, Hayward, at which the Northern California champion concrete mixer driver and transport driver will be named.

The local entrants are Milo Halfterson, Robert G. Urico and Wayne Seelye, all drivers for Shamrock Materials of San Rafael. All the contestants have long records of safe driving.

Suspects Waive Extradition

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)— A young couple charged in the murder of a teen-age hitchhiker last month in the Mojave Desert waived extradition proceedings yesterday. Police officials said they expected California authorities to come to Texas soon to get them.

Mrs. Anita Louise Welch, 17, waived extradition in the 66th District Court in San Antonio. Her husband, Richard C. Welch, 26, took the same stand before Del Rio Peace Justice Sergio Gonzalez.

Mrs. Welch has been jailed in San Antonio since last week. Her husband was picked up early this week as he crossed back into the United States from Mexico.

The couple is wanted in the slaying of Randolph Jenkins, 17, and the wounding of his girl friend Sept. 25 in the desert. Jenkins and Diane Bradford of Campbell (Santa Clara County) were hitchhiking to Jenkin's home in Salt Lake City.

Homeowners Looking Into Private Patrol

Residents of Novato's Country Club Estates are contemplating hiring private police protection to supplement the Novato police force.

Herbert B. Marsh was named chairman of a committee to determine if the residents want special police patrols, said James A. Sullivan, president of the Marin Country Club Estates Homeowners Association. Marsh got the assignment at the quarterly meeting of the association Tuesday night at the Marin Country Club.

"There has been a rash of burglaries in recent months, and Novato Police Chief Robert Di Grazia admits that the Novato police force is spread thin," Sullivan reported.

The Marin County Club Estates Homeowners Association also:

COMMITTEE — Named Warren Cross as chairman of a nominating committee to select four officers for one year terms and four directors for two year terms to be submitted to the Jan. 21 meeting.

ARCHITECTURAL CONTROL — Heard a report that petitions with more than 51 per cent of the residents of unit 4 have been filed with the county clerk asking transfer of the control of future construction from the developer to the homeowners, a procedure already followed in Units 1, 2, and 3, according to Sullivan.

CLEANUP — Heard a report from Thomas G. Telfer and Mrs. Rudolf Wallace that the residents are to be at Ignacio Boulevard and Entrada Drive at 10 a.m. Oct. 19 to assist with the beautification committee's cleanup campaign for the City of Novato.

DANCE —Set 7 p.m. Nov. 1 for the annual twilight dinner dance at the Marin Country Club.

Novato Sets Closed Talks For Manager

A special closed meeting of the Novato City Council to start screening applicants for the position of city manager will be held from 6 to 8 a.m. Saturday at the Novato City Hall, according to Mayor Harley McAskill.

The city now has 52 applications for the position vacated by John Julien Baget who quit Sept. 15 to become executive director of the Association of Bay Area Governments, McAskill said.

"We (the council) have not decided whether we will do the screening of all the applications ourselves, or hire someone from the outside to go over them and then select a few for the final choice to be made by the council," MacAskill said.

Cleveland Mayor Maps Out $17 Million Law Program

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mayor Carl B. Stokes, troubled by racial unrest in Cleveland, announced yesterday a $17 million program to improve law enforcement.

The Negro mayor also relieved Police Chief Michael J. Blackwell, 68, and gave the $22,125-a-year post to Deputy Inspector Patrick L. Gerity, 49.

Blackwell, who was appointed police chief when Stokes took office last November, turned down an offer to become a consultant to the police department and said he would rather go back to being an inspector.

Stokes told a news conference he would ask city council for funds to overhaul the police communications system and to establish a modern command center to coordinate police response to crime calls.

He said he would fully detail the program later but the immediate aim was to correct the "internal breakdown of police morale and discipline."

Relations between members of the 2,200-man police department and city hall became strained after the July 23 sniper incident when 10 persons, including three white policemen, were killed after a group of black nationalists opened fire on police.

Stokes withdrew white police and National Guard from the Glenville area the night after the shootings. Black community leaders and Negro policemen patrolled the streets.

Although Stokes' decision was later praised by some persons as having prevented more bloodshed, the Fraternal Order of Police strongly criticized the mayor's actions.

The order demanded the resignation of Safety Director Joseph F. McManamon. A resolution calling for Blackwell's resignation was dropped in view of the police chief's age.

There were reports that patrolmen were broadcasting derogatory remarks about Stokes over the police radio and refusing to answer calls to Negro areas.

Stokes referred to the worsening situation last month in a televised address in which he blamed the Glenville incident for "a tenseness in our city."

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1968 21

SURRENDER PROMISE

AWOL Servicemen To Join Protest

By DAVID DIETZ

SAN FRANCISCO — Four AWOL servicemen, including one from Marin County, appeared before newsmen yesterday to criticize the Vietnam War and the military and to announce they would participate in the GI and Vets March for Peace here Saturday.

The four, including Marine Pfc. Dennis Covell, 22, of 48 Vineyard Road, San Anselmo, had nearly finished talking with reporters in the office of attorney Terrence Hallinan when a Navy Shore Patrol paddy wagon pulled up outside.

In a statement read by one of the servicemen, Marine James S. Cook, 19, of Lafeyette, Ind., the young men said they would surrender to the armed forces after taking part in the march from the Golden Gate Park panhandle to the Civic Center beginning at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Seated with Cook, besides Covell, was Stephen R. Rowland, 21, an Army enlistee from St. Louis, Mo. Later, the fourth man, Army Pvt. James Stephens, 19, of Portland, Ore., joined the group.

"We have all, for conscientious and moral reasons, absented ourselves from the military establishment," the statement said. "We love our country, and the principles on which she was founded . . . We are neither deserters nor subversives. We are conscientious men who want to demonstrate our desire for a just and free military."

Covell, ruddy-faced with close-cut hair and dressed neatly in a tie and sports jacket, said he has refused to report for active duty at Camp Pendleton. He said he was ordered to active service after declining to follow orders while belonging to Company M, 3rd Battalion, 23rd Marines, Marine Corps Reserve, at the Santa Venetia armory.

Covell said he began resisting in April. He refused to carry a weapon, declined to attend drills and voiced objections to the war and military. On June 1, Covell said, he received orders to report to Camp Pendleton June 25.

He retained an attorney, Carl B. Shapiro of San Anselmo, who won a temporary restraining order against Covell's transfer, arguing the action was punitive and therefore illegal. However U.S. District Court Judge Lloyd H. Burke refused to grant a permanent injunction, Covell said. Shapiro is appealing.

Covell said he was arrested at his home and jailed at Treasure Island the day he was to have reported to Camp Pendleton, June 25, even though the temporary restraining order was in effect at that time. Shapiro obtained his release the next day and Covell said he has been dodging armed forces police and the FBI since.

He said he was attending his second year at the College of Marin, but hurriedly dropped classes a week ago "when the FBI came pounding at my door."

Covell said he now lives with his grandmother in San Pablo.

"She'd rather have me in jail than in Vietnam," he said. Covell added that other members of his family, including his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Covell, have told him that "'you can feel as you want, but don't do anything about it; don't fight the government'."

The young Marine claimed that "95 per cent" of the men in his former reserve unit agreed with his views against the war and "the whole military machine and the way it's run."

Covell said breezily that he enlisted in the Marine Corps Reserve in 1966 to "beat the draft." He completed six months of active duty and attended reserve drills for over two years before resisting.

"It was just the way the war had been going," explained Covell. He said he has filed for discharge as a conscientious objector, but that the Marines will not consider his case until he surrenders.

It was at this point in Hallinan's office that someone announced the Navy paddy wagon had parked outside.

"Excuse me, man," said Covell, "I gotta split."

The four went out a rear entrance and soon the Navy truck left, too.

Firemen Change Hours Of Fete For Youngsters

Belvedere volunteer firemen last night changed the time of their annual root beer bust for Belvedere children from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday at the fire station.

The root beer bust is part of the department's celebration of National Fire Prevention Week which ends Saturday. Other events planned for Saturday include free rides on the fire engine, board member Edwin Farley said.

The firemen also accepted challenge of the Tiburon Fire Department to a baseball game on Oct. 20 at Judge Field at the Tiburon Peninsula Club, Farley said.

Youngsters Recovering From Breath Troubles

A 5-year-old San Anselmo girl who had breathing trouble was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital after a police officer administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation at her home Tuesday.

San Anselmo police were called to the home of Kathy Ann Askew, daughter of Mrs. Keith M. Askew, 21 Woodside Drive, about 3:45 p.m. Officer David Oliva administered the resuscitation until an ambulance arrived, police said.

Tiburon Panel Votes Sennett As Chairman

Albert Sennett of Tiburon last night was elected chairman of the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee replacing outgoing chairman Ralph Wertheimer.

Other officers named were Gordon W. Strawbridge, vice chairman; Roger Felton, treasurer, and Iris Soule, secretary.

Elected to the board of directors were Bea Mann, Helen Newman, Gerry E. Coles, Bertram H. Hirsch, John S. Hoffmire, Fred Mantegani, David N. Sederquist, Harold Schwartz and Donald Tayer.

The advisory committee also endorsed the $10,900,000 Tamalpais High School bond issue for construction of new high schools on the Tiburon Peninsula and in San Geronimo Valley and for improvements to existing high schools.

Veterinary Office Looted Of Narcotics

Burglars pried a screen and louvered windows of the office of George H. Bond, a veterinarian at 762 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, making off with a small quantity of narcotics, San Anselmo police reported today.

Officers said the break-in was discovered yesterday by an employee, Lucille Y. Carroll. The narcotics, morphine and Demerol, were taken from cabinets, police said. A screwdriver used for the entry was found in the office.

Reports Thefts

Mrs. John Westhoff of 1297 Glenwood Drive, Petaluma, reported to police yesterday the theft of a gold calendar ceramic plate and a Chinese lantern from the front of her home sometime Tuesday. They were valued at $55.

Applause Indicates Happiness On Delay In Four-Lane Tiburon Road

By ANNE BARDWELL

Completion of Tiburon Boulevard as a four-lane highway is "at least five years away" a group of Tiburon Peninsula residents heard last night.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee, Alan S. Hart, chief district engineer for the state Division of Highways, told the gathering: "We do not have the funds budgeted to do another inch of the road at the present time."

At that announcement the audience of more than 10 persons burst into applause.

Hart was one of five speakers discussing the future of the Tiburon highway as part of the transporation committee report to the annual meeting.

Hart said his department might be able to come up with the money to put in some of the improvements sought by residents such as widening the road shoulders and installing left-hand turn stacking lanes.

Before widening to four lanes can begin, Hart said, the district needs to spend "at least" $1 million to secure needed rights-of-way. "If you hear about us buying the right-of-way, then you can start worrying about the road," Hart said.

Hart noted other Marin projects, such as the Novato bypass for Highway 101, widening of the Richardson Bay bridge and Waldo Grade and construction of a second viaduct through San Rafael, have priority over the Tiburon project.

In answer to a question, Hart said construction of left-hand turn lanes is "not simple," because the road is so narrow. Additional rights-of-way will have to be procured to widen the road enough for the turn lanes, he said, but "we'll certainly look into it."

He also said he could not spend state money to develop pedestrain and bicycle paths along Tiburon Boulevard but that the state would probably grant the city temporary use of the undeveloped right-of-way for such purposes.

Hart also said he would investigate a suggestion that the existing Tiburon Boulevard be made two lanes going west and a new two-lane road going east be constructed along the controversial Shoreline route, rather than a four-lane road along the water.

In answer to a question by Ben A. Farlatti, president of the Tiburon Peninsula Chamber of Commerce, Hart said he doubted the state would construct pedestrian overpaths along the highway.

The city would have to pay half of the construction costs, which "very high," he said, and, in addition, "we've never built one on a conventional highway."

Earlier in the evening, Farlatti, one of the speakers, urged the audience to get the city to "do something" to protect the safety of our children" who must walk along Tiburon Boulevard.

Speaking to the subject of how to handle commuter traffic, Farlatti suggested that school buses be used to transport commuters to Highway 101.

The buses, he said, could be used all day, first for the commuter, then school, then the shopper, the schools again, the late shopper and the commuter, "as well as the tourist who wants to look around the peninsula."

He also said the city needs another Bay crossing, "hopefully under water."

He dismissed the idea of high speed ferries as the solution to Tiburon's problems "because another 100 cars just won't fit in downtown Tiburon." He said ferry dockings would be more practical in Greenbrae.

Tiburon City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose told the audience that the city has never formally decided where the alignment of the new four-lane highway should go.

Bertram H. Hirsch, transportation committee chairman, told the audience that the benefits derived from improvements such as more left-hand turning lanes and improved intersections will be absorbed by increased traffic.

Allan N. Littman, a Tiburon planner, said the city's population will double in 10 years and that the peninsula has already reached the half-way mark of the 1958 population projection of 26,790 by 1990.

"We could have 100,000 people on the peninsula if we wanted with all the attendent problems," Littman said. He urged the citizens to use the 26,790 holding capacity projection as a "touchstone" from which all our plans can be developed."

Ralph Wertheimer, outgoing chairman, urged the group to prepare an advisory report on transportation needs for Tiburon and Belvedere.

"We must work through the cities to make sure we get the kind of highway we want," he told the group.

Beer Taken From A Delivery Truck

A case of beer, valued at $6.50, was stolen yesterday morning from a delivery truck on Fourth Street, San Rafael police reported.

The beer was taken at 9:50 a.m. while driver James M. Pandiani was making a delivery at the Gold Clown, 1105 Fourth Street, police said.

Wallace To Send LeMay To Saigon

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP) — George C. Wallace today announced his decision to send his third party running mate, retired Air Force Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, to Vietnam for a four-day fact-finding mission.

Tentative plans call for LeMay to go to Vietnam about Oct. 15, reporting back in time for an Oct. 20 nationwide television address by the former Alabama governor who's running for president.

"I have requested Gen. Curtis LeMay to make a four-day fact-finding mission for me in Vietnam.

"I am particularly interested in getting the views of the American servicemen in Vietnam and, of course, Gen. LeMay will consult leaders of the various branches of military service now engaged in the Vietnam fighting.

"The general will be accompanied by Ed Ewing, Joe Fine and John DeCarlo of the Wallace-LeMay campaign staff.

"When he returns, Gen. LeMay will make a full report to me and I will then make a report to the American people."

NIXON

MOLINE, Ill. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon said today the United States is operating "a crime university" graduating more than 200,000 hardened criminals a year.

In a speech prepared for a rally at a municipal field house, the Republican presidential candidate promised, if elected, "new leadership will break the vicious cycle that snares a first offender into a lifetime of crime."

As possible approaches of reversing what he saw as a trend among former prison inmates, Nixon suggested that "job training work-release programs and half-way houses can correct men's lives and prevent future crimes from being committed."

The former vice president said it's hard enough to catch and convict a criminal without bearing the added burden of finding him "a worst menace to society upon his release" from prison. He said "The prison must begin to turn out rehabilitated men."

In the Los Angeles area yesterday, Nixon encountered a few score hecklers among several thousand backers. Many of the supporters had been brought by bus to three suburban rallies.

The Republican candidate ignored the harassment for the most part. But the din of 20 or so hecklers in a Santa Monica auditorium prompted him to depart from his speech to urge his backers to "sock it to 'em."

Nixon obviously intended that the antiwar, anti-Nixon, demonstrators be outshouted—which they were at each stop. There was no violence other than some tearing down of rival signboards.

Nixon stuck very close to his standard speech text, used day after day in state after state. He pictured himself as the candidate who can end the Vietnam War, restore domestic tranquility and guarantee that the American flag will "never again be used as a doormat." And, he pictured his Democratic opponent, Hubert H. Humphrey, as a big spender: "The nation cannot afford him."

HUMPHREY

NEW YORK (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey has made a new appeal for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's support, warning that otherwise the senator's "impossible dream" might "turn into a quite possible nightmare of George Corley Wallace or Richard Milhouse Nixon."

Speaking to a dinner of New York's Liberal party, which is backing him for president, Humphrey said last night that the president to be chosen in less than four weeks "probably will not be" Wallace, but "could be" Nixon.

Then, using the words that became a keynote of McCarthy's unsuccessful quest for the Democratic presidential nomination, Humphrey said, "I myself have pursued the impossible dreams. I pursued them before and I'm possibly pursuing one again.

"But," he continued in evident reference to his fellow Minnesotan's continued refusal to support him, "I hope that last year's dreamers will take up today's realities, lest their impossible dreams turn into a quite possible nightmare of George Corley Wallace or Richard Milhous Nixon."

Just before the vice president arrived at the Americana, the midtown hotel where he spoke, 21 anti-Humphrey demonstrators were arrested and five injured, along with five policemen, when officers attempted to disperse a crowd of about 800 protesters.

After a morning of closed meetings today, devoted to efforts to raise additional funds for his financially hard-pressed campaign, Humphrey was to ride down lower Broadway for a traditional ticker-tape greeting before speaking in the heart of New York's financial district.

MUSKIE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie says harmony at home takes precedence over all other campaign issues, including peace in Vietnam.

"Bringing people into our society—that's why we're here," he told a luncheon gathering yesterday.

A downtown lunch-hour crowd that greeted Muskie at a rally following a confetti-strewn motorcade in the Democratic stronghold of Philadelphia was estimated at 15,000 by Police Commissioner Frank L. Rizzo.

Muskie was to cross the Delaware River today to New Jersey to campaign by motorcade, with time out for a helicopter trip to New York to meet with his running mate, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

AGNEW

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Ending the draft and lowering the voting age to 18 will be two goals of a Republican administration, says Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, the GOP vice presidential candidate.

"We believe that when the war in Vietnam is over, the nation should shift from the present draft system to an all-volunteer Army," Agnew said of himself and his running mate, Richard M. Nixon.

"Any draft system is inherently unfair," Agnew said.

Agnew's statements today also said he and Nixon would push for giving the vote to 18-year-olds because they are "smart enough to vote."

PERCY

SEATTLE (AP)—"It would be as calamitous to have him as president as it would be to have a card-carrying communist as president," Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said of George C. Wallace at a Republican fund-raising dinner here yesterday.

Percy, chief speaker at the $100-a-plate affair characterized Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey as a "decent, intelligent, highly motivated man, who right now happens to be working for the wrong party."

He called Wallace "clever, slick and a travesty to this country."

Billed as the "Nixon-Agnew Dinner," the event drew every Republican candidate for statewide office and several of the party's legislative leaders. Percy was introduced by Gov. Dan Evans.

Earlier at a news conference, Percy said American voters will have to accept "on faith" that Nixon has a solution to the Vietnam War.

RAFFERTY

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republican U.S. Senate candidate Max Rafferty today carried the public endorsement of Richard M. Nixon, given before thousands of persons in the vote heavy suburbs of Los Angeles.

"A vote for Rafferty is a vote for the new leadership we need," the GOP presidential candidate declared yesterday at Panorama City with a smiling Rafferty at his side.

Rafferty canceled his planned talk to the Berkeley Rotary Club to stick close to Nixon all day in a tour of Los Angeles County.

Rafferty also received boosts from two other areas. California's Republican Sen. George Murphy said in a letter to GOP volunteers that Cranston's claims to a sizable Republican bloc of votes are "fabrications and wishful thinking."

Murphy accused Cranston of a "smear campaign against Max (that) must not be allowed to succeed and so to put in the Senate a man who will cancel my vote and represent only a small segment of our people."

Rafferty also drew endorsement from a leader in the camp of the man he beat in the primary, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel. John D. Butler, former San Diego mayor and Kuchel's county chairman in the primary, urged Republicans to "put aside intraparty differences and elect all members of the Nixon team."

Meanwhile, Cranston campaigned in San Diego in a speech to the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He said middle-income families are bearing "a crushing tax burden. It is not simply that taxes are too high. The tax load is unfairly distributed."

UNRUH

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Democratic Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh picked a college audience today for a strong attack on President Johnson, charging he has "consistently and categorically misled the American people about the progress of the war," in Vietnam.

On the third day of a statewide tour on behalf of Democratic Assembly candidates, the speaker said "no government can survive if it is built on a pyramid of falsehoods and deception."

His remarks were prepared for a rally at Los Angeles State College, sponsored by the Associate Students and the Young Democrats.

This was one of the colleges that provided the workers for the presidential campaigns of Sen. Eugene McCarthy and the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy — and Unruh clearly wants the young people to remain in the Democratic corner.

Another by Alec Stern, former illustrator for the San Francisco Chronicle, is a line drawing reproduction of a cable car on California Street during rush hour in San Francisco.

The third, showing geese in flight, carries a verse by Alfred Lord Tennyson.

Teener Arrested As Theft Suspect

A 17-year-old Corte Madera youth was arrested Tuesday by Mill Valley police on suspicion of burglary and for being beyond parental control, police reported. He is being held at Marin County Juvenile Hall pending a court hearing, police said.

The arrest came, police said, after Inspector Robert L. Sisk yesterday afternoon noticed the youth placing a stereo tuner and a pair of candlesticks in some bushes near Cascade Dam.

While the youth was being questioned at the police department, Joseph C. Edwards of 477 Cascade Drive reported that his stereo tuner, valued at $400, a camera, four rolls of nickels and a pair of candlesticks had been taken from his home during the day.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Indigestion Has Many Causes, Many Methods Of Treatment

VAN DELLEN

There are numerous reasons for indigestion, and the more serious conditions usually are detected via X-ray. If the films are negative, nervousness is suspected, especially when the sufferer is tense and under considerable strain.

"Busy, busy, hurry, hurry" is a situation that rings a bell for many of us.

MODERN MAN finds tension difficult to escape because it is found in the home, on the highway, and at work. Relaxation is attainable, provided the individual is willing to try.

The victim must become master of his own ship. This means full control of behavior, bodily functions, and thoughts. Above all, he should not attempt to carry the world's problems on his shoulders.

Eat slowly and do not gorge at each sitting or distend the stomach with too much fluid. Pureed vegetables and meats are not needed unless symptoms are severe.

Milk may relieve or aggravate distress, and to find out — try it. Tobacco, spices, tea, coffee, and alcohol generally make matters worse because these stimulate or irritate the membranes of the stomach.

Indigestion may also stem from food intolerance or allergy. In such instances, an elimination diet is needed to detect the culprit.

ACHIEVING peace of mind involves more than popping pills into the mouth. Sedatives and tranquilizers offer temporary help, but more is accomplished by avoiding stressful and unpleasant situations.

Antacids and antispasmodics reduce the acidity and lessen the tightness of the stomach valves. The parasympatholytic drugs also are use when they divorce the gastrointestinal tract from the mind.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

RED WELTS ON HANDS

A. T. writes: Why do red marks appear on the backs of my hands if I touch them or hit them rather hard? The redness remains for several days.

REPLY

It would be necessary to see these marks to make a diagnosis. Some persons with allergies develop red welts whenever the skin touches a hard object. Severe traumas lead to hemorrhage under the skin, but these marks are more bluish than red.

FLABBY FLESH

G. S. writes: Is flabby fat a symptom that something is physically wrong? The individual is a 37-year-old man.

REPLY

No. Flabbiness represents stored fat under the skin and is normal in a person who leads a sedentary life. Those who area all muscle do not have this problem. Since most individuals your age have some flab, there's no need for concern.

ONSET OF HAY FEVER

F. D. writes: Can hay fever develop in adulthood for the first time or does it always appear in childhood?

REPLY

The condition can begin at any time of life. Persons highly sensitive to ragweed develop the disorder at an early age. This is especially true of inhabitants living in areas where the weed abounds.

THE FLAT HEAD

A reader writes: Can an 11-month-old baby's head be made symmetrical by massage? One side is flattened from sleeping on it all the time.

REPLY

Massage will not help. Encourage the child to sleep on the other side and in time the abnormalcy will right itself.

Sub Recovers Lost Plutonium

SANTA BARBARA (UPI) — A minisub snatched two small nuclear generators from the bottom of the Pacific Ocean yesterday where they plunged into the water with the Nimbus B spacecraft.

Two civilian divers under contract to the U.S. Navy used the small submarine, Star II, to recover the plutonium 238 fuel cell capsules from about 300 feet of water near offshore San Miguel Island.

The capsules were placed in a water-filled container aboard a surface vessel, the USNS Gear, for transportation to shore where they were turned over to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Image Of 'The Ugly American' Arises In Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The image of the ugly American has arisen again in these strife-torn 19th Olympic Games.

At least one Mexico City newspaper complained bitterly that the American athletes are difficult—if not impossible—to interview and reported that in some Olympic Village bathrooms, signs were put up saying "Yankee go home."

A spokesman for the U.S. Olympic Committee countered by saying "the harassment of the athletes has been terrible. If this keeps up, we will have to keep our boys away from the news media entirely."

Instead, it was believed that a series of press conferences would be arranged.

Meanwhile, the International Olympic Committee went about the business of electing a president and other officers. Avery Brundage of Chicago, the president since 1952, and the Comte Jean de Beaumont of France are the only candidates for the top job.

"At 81, there's time for a change," De Beaumont said yesterday after his nomination to oppose Brundage as president.

Beaumont, 63, and a millionaire in his own right, also was nominated for two other posts—one of four for first vice president and one of seven as a board member.

Most close observers, however, feel that Brundage—who has had one of his most trying years in pulling through these strife-torn, death-ridden and racially tainted Games—again would be elected.

De Beaumont, prior to the nominations, had said he would not seek the post unless drafted. He said he had the backing of the United States, Morocco and Iran among the 69 members of the IOC.

Brundage, 81 only a few days ago, maintained a pre-election silence.

The ram-rod straight champion of amateurism has had probably the most difficult year of his career in bringing about these 19th Olympic Games. First was the question of the selection of Mexico City and its 7,347-foot altitude.

That issue solved, problem followed problem—South Africa, its apartheid policy, the threatened boycott by black African nations and the eventual omission of South Africa from the Games; the threatened boycott by black athletes in the United States; the invasion of Czechoslovakia that brought other threats of boycott.

Problem after problem, finally capped by violent riots in Mexico City last week that left more than 50 dead and threatened the Games thmselves.

But the Mexican government dealt with that with a stern hand and the city is now serene as some 7,500 athletes from 100 nations put the final touches on their preparations for the Games Oct. 12-27.

One big scare was thrown into the American delegation when swimmer Debbie Meyer of Sacramento, world record holder in the 200, 400 and 800-meter freestyle events, showed up on crutches. She is expected to win three gold medals and the Americans figure to capture 20 of the 29 swimming golds.

"I was getting ready to leave from Denver and I tripped," she said. "I hurt my ankle but I will be okay."

In an informal swimming meet yesterday, Nikolai Pakin, the Soviet Union's world record holder in the 100-meter breaststroke was upset by coun-

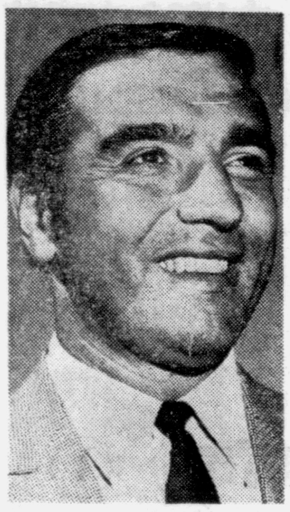
George Lee Turns Out To Be A 'Tough Guy'

BY GEORGE — Golly, and all this time I thought George Lee, the Squire of Bayside Acres, was a nice, easy going type of chap who helped old ladies across the street, housed and fed stray dogs — the Good Samaritan type.



GEORGE LEE

On the surface George is a big, easy-going, affable, smile-darn-you-smile guy. When the San Francisco Warriors picked him as their new head coach, there were some critics who felt George wasn't enough of a taskmaster to produce a winner in the physically demanding sport of professional basketball.

A release from the National Basketball Association, however, reverses Lee's image. It turns out that the 32-year-old coach is Vince Lombardi, a Marine Sergeant and Adolph Hitler rolled into one.

The publicity release featuring the San Rafael resident quotes an unidentified Warrior player after a particularly rough practice session, to wit:

"I remember reading after George was appointed that he had drawn upon the philosophies of all the coaches he had worked with to base his own approach to the game. I would just like to know which one of those men's philosophies he borrowed his practice procedures from. I didn't know that Adolph Hitler coached in the NBA.

'It's Hard To Believe'

"It's hard to believe right now," groaned the weary Warrior, bathed in perspiration, "but do you know that when the coaching job was available, I phoned (owner) Franklin Mieuli and told him that I thought George was the best man that he could get for the job.

"Today I still feel that he is going to be one of the great coaches in the league, but I also believe that he would be one of the greatest Marine Corps Drill Sergeants!"

That is the highest tribute a coach can receive from his players and it looks like George Lee is approaching his new job from the right direction as the Warriors embark on their NBA schedule next week. Vince Lombardi proved at Green Bay that mean old men finish first in pro sports. And I wish George Lee similar success, even though it's hard to picture him as a mean old man.

I mean, helping all those little old ladies across the street is so nice. . .

Growing Fund For Makalena

HAWAII CALLING — Former Marin County junior golf champ Paul Spengler Jr., now living in Honolulu, was a close friend of Ted Makalena, the golf pro who died Sept. 13 from injuries suffered in a freak swimming accident at Waikiki Beach.

Writes Spengler: "Ted left behind his wife Mary Lee and four children. Because Ted was so beloved here in Hawaii, a group of local friends started a fund to take care of most of the financial and educational-expenses his family will incur in the years ahead.

"The fund today is in excess of $28,000. Contributions have been received from all over the world ranging from $1 to $5,000.

"Ted also has many friends in Marin County and I though that some of them would like to contribute to the Ted Makalena Fund, P.O. Box 32, Honolulu, Hawaii.

"The first Marin County donor I saw listed was Bill Carewe of the Meadow Club."

San Rafael Cadets March To Tomales For Grid Game

San Rafael Military Academy is reviving but potent Tomales will still hold an offensive hammer when the two prep grid teams clash in Marin rivalry at Tomales at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Both teams bring 2-1 records into the contest, and for SRMA that's a one-game improvement over last year's dismal season, in which the Cadets dropped a 39-0 verdict to Tomales.

Tomales quarterback Larry Gondola has the best completion percentage in the county on 28 of 48 passes.

Tomales lost its opener to El Molino, 39-19, but since then has whipped St. Vincent's of Petaluma, 19-6 and Emery 25-0. The Cadets won their first two games, 6-0, over Anderson Valley and 13-6 over St. Patrick's of Vallejo before bowing to Keiseyville, 19-0.

Calgary Triumphs

CALGARY (AP) — Pete Liske threw three touchdown passes in triggering the Calgary Stampeders to a 26-10 Canadian Football League victory over the Montreal Alouettes last night.

Freehan, A Happy Man

ST. LOUIS (AP) — One of the happiest players in the Detroit dressing room after the Tigers' 13-1 World Series romp over St. Louis yesterday was Bill Freehan.

The big catcher didn't knock in four runs, as did both Jim Northrup and Al Kaline. But he did get a hit to end an 0-for-16 hitting slump through the first five Series games.

How did it feel? "Great" said the burly catcher.

TELEGRAMS

His locker had letters and telegrams taped all around it with advice from fans on how to come out of his batting slump.

"If I thought of everything the people told me I couldn't even swing," he said.

"One guy had me move six inches closer to the plate," Freehan added with a grin. "That would put me right in the middle of it. I think he was trying to tell me something."

"It sure gave him a big lift," said Manager Mayo Smith of Freehan's drive, a single in the second inning that drove in a run.

SHOWDOWN

Ace St. Louis pitcher Bob Gibson was scheduled to face Mickey Lolich. Both have won two Series games.

"Probably tomorrow (Thursday) it'll be a 1-0 ball game one way or another," said Freehan. "Up to now, we've either won big or they've won big."

KENTFIELD TOUGHIE

Marin Tars To Face Yuba

By KIMO CAMPBELL

College of Marin's football team is a little like Humpty Dumpty this week and the coaching staff, like all the Queen's Men, is trying to fit the pieces back together again.

Last Saturday's 21-8 loss to Sierra was hard enough to take on the scoreboard, but even harder ot take on the field, as the Tars looked suspiciously like the better team much of the afternoon, only to bungle things whenever it seemed that real fireworks were in the making. Errors, mental and physical, of commission and omission, cost Marin the game. Sierra played good, sound football, but only a handful of Wolverines were truly impressive. Overall, it was as if Sierra had tripped over the victory on a sidewalk and picked up after the Tars dropped it.

CONSISTENCY

Not surprisingly, then, this week's drills have stressed more-scoring power and consistency. The lack of finesse that cost the Tars so dearly in clips, fumbles, and interceptions last week must be drastically reduced if Marin is to beat Yuba College at Kentfield tomorrow night. The 49ers from Marysville are unlikely to give up much voluntarily.

Yuba, 3-0 on the year to Marin's 2-1, is currently the top-rated small schools division J.C. team in Northern California. They are averaging 23.2 points per game against 9.0 points allowed. "We always have good games with Yuba," says coach Dick Read of the Tars, "and the team usually plays well against them for some reason." Last year, coming off their big 42-41 win over uh . . . Sierra, Marin routed the 49ers 40-21.

THE BEST

This Yuba team, however, is said to be the best 49er club since the 1965 team that took second in the Golden Valley Conference. Yuba will alternate two contrasting players at quarterback, Eliza Randelas and Tom Ponciano (6-1, 195). Randelas likes to run, will use passes that start off as a run (play-action) and will run the option and sprint-out, while the strong-armed Ponciano will drop back and throw.

When either signal caller passes, his first instinct will be to look for sophomore Mike Sizelove, who's hard to miss at 6-foot-5, 220 pounds, and hard to catch as well. Sizelove was an All-GVC pick last year. The other end, Jerry Clark, is a comparative pygmy (6-0, 175) but fast and possessed of good hands.

Usually, however, Yuba will run between the tackles, probably throwing only 10 to 15 passes. The Yuba running game is led by Fred Riley, a 5-10, 175-pound scatback, who provides the breakaway threat, and fullback Ron Kelly (6-2, 235) the power.

HITS WELL

On defense, Yuba hits well, according to Read, and is strong up front, with the front men in the wide-tackle six defense averaging about 225 pounds. Read hopes to "run at 'em" anyway, with Jim Finnegan, Tim Garvin, Mike Fowler, Keith Stirling, and Gary Dinkel carrying the mail. The only change in the offensive unit will be Len Pieri starting in place of injured (sore knee) Sam Crowell at an end.

Defensively, Bill Hickerson should be back at his old stand at linebacker, and defensive lineman Rich Woodall may play for the first time since the San Jose City College opener.

NOT PLEASED

Read has not been pleased with practices, and considers Yuba a "real good football team," but also feels that "we'll beat 'em if the team wants to enough. We want to go into the league 3-1 in practice games." (Marin opens its first season in the new Camino Norte Conference against West Valley at Marin next week.)

Tomorrow night's kickoff is at 8 p.m.

Palmer Fires Even Par 74 In Piccadilly Golf Tourney

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Arnold Palmer shot a par 74 against Brian Huggett of Wales today for a one-hole lead in the opening round of the eight-man World Match Play Golf Championship.

The 39-year-old Latrobe, Pa., professional, in search of his third Piccadilly title in its five-year existence, struggled only on the rain-soaked greens on the 6,997 yards par 74 Wentworth course.

His long game was never more sound or more straight. But he required 18 putts on the front nine and 19 on the back, which for top flight golf is at least seven putts too many in an 18-hole round.

With the afternoon round of the 36-hole match still ahead, Huggett was much closer to Palmer than the overnights odds would have indicated. The American was an 11 to 4 favorite, the Welshman was 20 to 1.

Playing conditions were fearsome, with balls plugging on the fairway, and the frightening trees of the old Burma Road still dripping from three days of continuous rain.

Seals Name Hampson New Team Captain

OAKLAND (AP) — The new captain of the Oakland Seals is center Ted Hampson, replacing the recently traded Bob Baun.

The announcement yesterday also said the Seals have hired Joe Wilson, formerly with the Harlem Globetrotter basketball organization, as director of public relations.

Colonels Top Oaks

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Darrell Carrier poured in 44 points last night as the Kentucky Colonels whipped Oakland 128-122 in an American Basketball Association exhibition game. Oakland ace Rick Barry scored 43 in the losing effort.

Unitas Or Not, There's Still Morrall

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Baltimore's Johnny Unitas, still favoring an injured muscle in his passing arm, may miss Sunday's game against the San Francisco 49ers.

But that is not making the San Francisco 49ers and their coach Dick Nolan overconfident. With substitute Earl Morrall working against the 49ers in the National Football League's opening game, the Colts turned in a 27-10 victory.

Nolan, hoping for an improved score at least, said yesterday "We didn't do much right that day. We jumped off to a quick 7-0 lead when we blocked a pass and Stan Hindman ran it in for a touchdown.

"From then on, it was all downhill as far as we were concerned. I think we've come a long way since then," he added.

John Brodie, the 49er quarterback, bruised his right elbow in last Sunday's 24-10 loss to Los Angeles but is expected to be ready. Baltimore has won all its four league games. The 49ers are 2-2.

Bears Stressing Goal Line Plays

Mill Valley Youth Wins Distance Race

Joe Biancalana of Mill Valley won the first in a series of grade school cross country meets at Redwood High School last Tuesday in a time of 6 minutes, 11 seconds.

He was followed by Jack Neuhaus, David Healy, Steve Lombardi and Jeff Neuhaus in the Tamalpais District meet.

The next meet will be held at Redwood Friday, Oct. 18.

Pinson May Be Cards' Rightfielder In 1969

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Vada Pinson probably will become the newest member of the St. Louis Cardinals' outfield within the next few days.

Officials of the Cincinnati Reds and Cardinals have been huddling during the entire World Series and have all but closed a post-series deal in which Pinson would come to the Cards for outfielder Bobby Tolan and relief pitcher Wayne Granger.

The Red revealed sometime ago that the 30-year-old Pinson was available if they could come up with a suitable young pitcher and another outfielder in return.

Dave Bristol, Cincinnati manager, is exceptionally high on the right-handed Granger, who appeared in 34 games for St. Louis this season and also made a brief series appearance in yesterday's sixth contest.

Pinson slumped to .261 in 130 games with Cincinnati this season, showing only 48 runs batted in and five homers, although he hit 20 or more home runs during six other seasons.

He has a lifetime mark of .299 with the Reds and for many years formed a one-two batting punch with Frank Robinson at Crosley Field.

BOBBY HULL SAYS HE'S RETIRING

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Black Hawk superstar Bobby Hull said today that he was retiring as a hockey player.

Hull made the brief announcement at a news conference.

Marin Tars Capture Cross Country Event

Cardinals Laugh It Off

MAMA NORTHRUP'S BOUNCING BOY — Detroit Tiger Jim Northrup jumps on home plate in glee after hitting a grand slam homer in 13-1 Tiger win over St. Louis yesterday. Greeting him with congratulations are teammates Al Kaline (6), Willie Horton (23), Norm Cash (25) and Bill Freehan (11). Watching is Cardinal catcher Tim McCarver. (AP Wirephoto)

Just Bring In Leroy, Says Red

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Detroit Tigers must have really gone wild in their clubhouse, because the St. Louis Cardinals seemed pretty happy in theirs, and they lost.

Manager Red Schoendienst was even laughing about the World Series-record 10 runs the Tigers scored in the third inning. He dreamed up a character named Leroy and wished he'd come in and pitch.

WHO'S LEROY?

"For that one inning I was hollaring 'give the ball to Leroy,'" Schoendienst laughed. "I don't know who Leroy is, but I wanted to give the ball to somebody."

Everytime Schoendienst gave the ball to one of his relief pitchers the Cardinals got in deeper trouble and finally lost to the Tigers 13-1 yesterday.

"Everything happened out there," Schoendienst added. "Every time they (the Tigers) swung a bat there was a hit. Or else we walked them or hit them, one or the other. We hit two guys, geez."

"After they score 12 or 13 runs you just say to yourself let's get it over before somebody gets hurt," Maxvill said. "Then when it's over you just say get them tomorrow."

ALREADY GONE

One reason for the lack of gloom in the clubhouse was that most of the relief pitchers had dressed and gone while the game was delayed by rain in the eighth inning.

"He (Washburn) threw as well today as he has all year long. But he couldn't get the ball over the plate."

One of the reasons the Cardinals didn't seem too distressed about the loss that evened the Series at three games apiece was standing in front of his locker.

"Listen, nobody has told me I'm going to pitch," Bob Gibson grinned.

NO WORRY

"I don't want him to worry about it," Schoendienst said. Then he laughed at the thought he wouldn't start the most outstanding pitcher in World Series history.

About the only saving grace for the Cardinals was that they hadn't let winner Denny McLain shut them out.

Schoendienst had his serious moments when he started talking about the Detroit hitters.

"You know, none of our lefthanders have been able to get their left-handers out through this whole Series," Schoendienst moaned. "And (Norm) Cash and (Al) Kaline are hotter than heck. And when you have two hot hitters . . ."

STILL SMILING

Maxvill was smiling despite the fact that he has not gotten at hit in 20 at bats during the Series. The record is 21.

"I think that I've hit the ball good during the Series, so that takes some of the sting out of it," Maxvill said. "I'd like to have a few bloopers for some hits, but it's one of those things."

U.S. Golfers Take Lead

MELBOURNE (AP) — Marvin Giles, law student from Lynchburg, Va., shot a five-under-par 68 today at the Royal Melbourne golf course and moved the United States into the lead in the Eisenhower Cup for the World Amateur Team Championship.

His record-equalling round with a 69 by teammate Richard Siderowf of Westport, Conn., and a 74 by Jack Lewis of Florence, S.C., swept the United States into a two-stroke lead over Great Britain and Mexico, which came on with a rush today.

The United States, which tailed Great Britain by two strokes and Australia by four after the first round yesterday now has an aggregate of 431.

None of the Australians broke par during the day and they are now seven strokes behind the United States.

Arnie Palmer Says Big Time Golf Is In Deep Freeze Over Dispute

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Arnold Palmer said today big time golf appears to be in a deep freeze for 1969 until a legal decision is reached in the fight between the U.S. Professional Golfers Association and the rebellious touring professionals.

He blamed the officials of the PGA for the impasse which has reached the federal courts of Wilmington, Del.

The court is ruling now on an injunction by the PGA to stop the touring professionals from proceeding with their own group, known as the American Professional Golfers (APG).

Here for the eight-man World Match Play Championship, Palmer made his comments on the altercation to newsmen:

"There's only one playing professional of any importance backing the PGA," Palmer said. "That is Sam Snead."

Until the legal ruling is made, however, there is nothing to be done, he added.

The APG, led by Gardner Dickinson of Nassau, has lined up "more sponsors than we have time to play," Palmer declared.

At stake in the row are all the major tournaments as well as the international competitions like the Ryder Cup.

"What is most disappointing is that they (PGA) had nothing to lose by letting the players have autonomy," Palmer said.

"I'm with the players. They want to run without being told why and how. I have no intention of giving up my PGA membership. But the officials are just a bunch of . . . well, nice fellows."

He said if the dispute is not settled soon the split would defy negotiation and the PGA would wind up with nobody playing except Sam Snead."

PGA membership involved the 200 or so top playing pros and about 5,600 club professionals.

"They come to the annual meeting as delegates," Palmer said, "and they are told how to vote. They have no choice."

But, he said, if that goes on, there will be no PGA tours.

Redwood Pro-Am Golf Tourney In Santa Rosa

The fifth annual Redwood Pro-Am Golf Tournament, laced heavily with a variety of veteran pros, celebrities and California professionals, will be held at the Santa Rosa Golf and Country Club Saturday and Sunday.

The celebrities include actor William Gargan, Dennis Day, Jack Kelly, William Colbert, Skip Young, veteran western heavy Bob Wilkie and San Francisco sportscaster Frank Dill, among others.

"I think he got better as he went along," said Freehan, "but I think his arm was still stiff."

"I was concerned about his velocity," he added. "His fast ball wasn't working at the beginning but it got better as he went along."

Norm Cash, who was 3-for-4 with two runs batted in, was hitting .333 in the Series before yesterday's performance.

One of the few problems encountered by the Tigers was the infield. McAuliffe appeared to have easy plays on two grounders, only to have them bounce over his head at the last minute for singles.

"It's a bad infield," he said. "The ball takes all kinds of bad hops."

"They played football on it Sunday," said Smith, referring to the St. Louis Cardinals football team. "Maybe they (the ground crew) can get rid of the problem by tomorrow."

The Series closely resembles last year's match between St. Louis and Boston. Boston was down 3-1 and came back to win the next two games, only to lose the finale to Gibson.

The Tigers were down three games to one and were to meet Gibson for the last match.

"If we lost the Series I wanted it to be in seven games," said Kaline. "At least we haven't embarrassed ourselves or the American League."

"With two good teams it couldn't be a better ending," said Cash.

But it was Smith who let out words of optimism when he said:

"There's going to be a big victory dinner in Detroit Friday." cortisone to relieve the pain in his aching right shoulder Monday, was not named to start un-

The United States entered only a token team of reserves, but Cathy Corcione, Long Branch, N.J., won one of two women's freestyle events in 1:01.8. Some 20 nations entered teams in the warm-up event.

In other official action, the IOC slapped down a complicated attempt to enter Australia's water polo team, and received applications for the 1976 Summer Games from Los Angeles, Montreal and Algiers.

And FIFA, the world governing body for soccer, confirmed Mexico City as the site of the 1970 World Cup soccer competition.

Controversy continued. There was a rumor of the black athletes from the United States snubbing the black athletes of other countries. It was unfounded.

There was a report that the U.S. cycling team pulled out because of the recent riots. Untrue.

Ralston Is Confident Of Victory Over USC

STANFORD (AP) — "We'll hold him to under 100 yards," said Stanford linebacker Don Parrish.

"He" of course, is O. J. Simpson, Southern California's premier running back whose appearance in the Stanford Stadium Saturday is expected to bring as many as 80,000 fans out into the Northern California sunshine.

THE REASON

Simpson, who has rushed for nearly 200 yards a game and scored nine times in Southern Cal's three victories this season, is the main reason the Trojans are ranked second in the country and a nine-point favorite to beat Stanford.

But the Indians, also unbeaten in their first three games, think they have the offensive weapon that could equalize things in 20-year-old sophomore quarterback Jim Plunkett.

Ninth in the nation in total offense, Plunkett has thrown nine touchdown passes this season as Stanford has racked up an average offense of 472.3 yards per game.

CONFIDENT

"USC should be the No 1 team in the nation and O. J. may be the best back anywhere," said Stanford Coach John Ralston, "but I feel very strongly we can win."

But while Simpson is the key to the Southern California attack, Stanford, ranked 18th in the current Associated Press poll, won't underestimate the Trojan passing attack.

"We won't key on Simpson," says Terry DeSylvia, a Stanford assistant coach. "Naturally, he's great, but what good does it do plugging up a hole with a gang of guys.

"He just ad libs on you and runs elsewhere when you stack on him. Our defense has been solid throughout. We feel it can stand up to anybody."

TARGETS

Steve Sogge is the starting Southern Cal quarterback and his favorite targets are halfback Jim Lawrence, who has 14 receptions, and a surprise entry named Simpson, who has caught eight.

In its first two victories, Southern Cal's defense was less brilliant. But in the Trojans' most recent victory, 28-3 over Miami, it was the most gratifying part of the game, according to Coach John McKay.

Stanford's most pressing job will be to hold back Simpson.

Raiders Expect Emotional Game Against Chargers

Center Jim Otto, recalling the first time Oakland beat the Chargers in 1963 after three years of losses, said yesterday: "It was the biggest thrill of my life — and a very emotional game."

"Our games are still emotional," he added.

Matched will be the Oakland passing attack that has scored more touchdowns than any other team in the league and the San Diego pass defense which has permitted the fewest.

Daryle Lamonica has thrown nine Raider touchdowns and George Blanda for one. But the Chargers have yet to give up an aerial score.

The Raiders lead the AFL's Western Division with a spotless 4-0 record and are looking for their 15th straight regular victory. The Chargers are 3-1 after last Saturday night's loss to the Jets in New York.

Cuozzo, Kapp Named Co-Players Of Week

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Gary Cuozzo and Joe Kapp talked about team play yesterday when informed they were named by The Associated Press as National Football League Offensive Players of the Week.

The Minnesota Vikings' quarterbacks spearheaded a 24-10 victory over the Detroit Lions Sunday. The win boosted the Vikings into sole possession of first place of the Central Division with a 3-1 record.

Here's A Wildcat On A Rampage

By GARY TISCHLER

This is somewhat out of the Marin County Athletic League, but would you notice this Jim O'Brien.

The fellow makes you wish that Marin Catholic were still in the league, just to see what would happen.

In case you haven't heard, the speed demon performed an O. J. feat Friday night when he gained 268 yards against a dizzy Piner squad of some repute. In all that statistical pile were three touchdowns including one of 93 yards that had everybody buzzing and made homecoming really worth coming home for.

We didn't catch that performance, but on second thought it wasn't such a big surprise, at least not that long run from scrimmage.

O'Brien caught the San Rafael Bulldogs the same way in that 33-25 scoring spree won by Marin Catholic. In that one, he scored from 82 yards out on an off-tackle play in which he got a half a step. That, it seems, is a little too much to give to the fellow.

At any rate O'Brien has gained 565 yards in three games, easily one of the top rushing marks in the Bay Area. He's scored four touchdowns for the Wildcats, who could be on their way to one of their best seasons.

THAT WASHINGTON - Drake game was close for some good reasons. Drake didn't have a senior in the backfield, with the exception of quarterback Ed Harrington, and what an exception. The Pirates were strictly a case of walking wounded. Tackle Ron Street was out, so was Clark Jamison, Greg Corbett, Jim Harris and John Vollenweider in the backfield.

Mark Silverman got more work than usual, carrying 24 times. Dave Alvarado, young brother of all-everything Don Alvarado, had a good night catching six passes for 96 yards and a touchdown.

Harrington, incidentally, could be a sleeper in the quarterback department this year. The senior Pirate, who sat in the shadow of all-leaguer Don Stone last year, threw for 214 yards against Washington, hitting on key passes to set up all three Drake touchdowns, and scoring one and throwing short for another.

NOVATO TACKLE Steve Majka really got close to Tamalpais quarterback Don Mackin Saturday afternoon. Mackin got plenty of pressure from a heated Novato rush, and most of it was done by Majka, who nailed Mackin time and time again and seemed to be all over the field all afternoon. One of those stop-action, slow motion cameras that was used so well in Sunday's pro game would have helped a lot in showing the kind of job Majka did Saturday.

ALTHOUGH Terra Linda was not overly impressive last Friday against San Rafael, there were at least two plays in addition to the safety, and touchdown by Dan McInnin, that helped clinch it for the pressure-wise Trojans.

One was of course the interception by McInnin when the Bulldogs were desperately driving on the arm of Bruce Nave. Tackle Carl Hicks led the pressure charge on Nave, forcing him to hurry the pass. The other was a key third down burst by Steve McClain in the fading seconds, nailing a first down and letting the Trojans keep the ball and run out the clock, instead of being forced to punt. McClain, at least by the San Rafael performance, may turn out to be one of the top pressure backs in the MCAL this season.

Non-League Players Top Statistics

Tomales quarterback Larry Gondala is the top passer, percentage wise, with a 58 per cent accuracy but Don Mackin of Tomales has piled up 575 yards passing, completing 39 of 71 for six touchdowns.

Olympic Press Center Leaks

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Unseasonable rain pounded the Olympic Village last night, with night, with water streaming through a section of the roof of the new press center onto foreign newsmen.

Officials wheeled out barrels to catch the water, and some of the officials tried to keep photographers from taking pictures of the leaks in the building which serves as headquarters for coverage of the Olympic Games.

STEVENS

Lucky are those fishermen who bring their sleeping quarters with them in the shape of a camper truck while fishing such areas as the mouth of the Klamath River. It gets mighty cold after the sun sets and the warmth of a camper truck is very welcome.

Yes, anglers using a camper truck are lucky, but read what happened to Albert Torre, his wife and their pet poodle.

After the sun set on Saturday, it grew cold, but why should the Torres worry, they could close the camper, light a small charcoal burner and go to sleep in comfort. Presumably they did just that. On Sunday, the camper-truck was located. The Torres couple was found dead, and so was the poodle. The Camper truck was tightly closed, the charcoal burner used up the oxygen and carbon dioxide did the rest.

A tragedy, yes. But also a lesson to be learned by all who use camper-trucks.

SOME VERY good results of steelhead fishing along the banks of the Sacramento River are on hand. Roe-berry baits have proved successful, as have night-crawlers. Most bait houses have a supply of salmon roe with which the roe berries are made up (a supply of maline cut into three-inch squares, twisted tightly by using the four corners and securing each berry.) Most old timers make up a batch — a couple dozen or more — the night before they fish.

THE YIELD of salmon and stripers has been a matter of geography during the early part of this week. On Sunday the boat, Lovely Martha, boated 18 salmon to 26 pounds; the Wilma H took 5 limits to 24 pounds; the Chinook took 8 salmon to 16 pounds, and the Ge-Ge netted 13 salmon to 18 pounds and 2 Bonito were included in the Ge-Ge catch. Most of the action was off Muir Beach.

Lee Anderson's bait, boat and tackle spot in Oakland reported the above action with salmon and added a striped bass report. One could fancy that a line has been drawn between the Sisters and Pinole Point. The Quans of China Camp reported bass fishing definitely in the doldrums, while the boats that worked the waters downstream from the Sisters had a field day. The boat, Sunfish, boated 14 limits to 14 pounds; the R.S.P. had six bass to 12 pounds working the waters near Red Rock; the boat Ino, netted 47 bass to 15 pounds off Sharks Point. The Sea Horse took 10 limits to 28 pounds off Muir Beach.

The stripers were taken while trolling — or drift-fishing live bait.

LAGUNA SECA

Hot Competition Expected

Oct. 12 looms as the most exciting Laguna Seca Saturday racing program in the history of the 11-year-old track.

At 2:45 on Saturday afternoon, a 100-mile race for open wheel 5,000cc V-8 single seaters will be run to decide the national GP Championship.

With Dr. Lou Sell in the Smothers Brothers Eagle- Chevy leading the series at 41 points, George Wintersteen, in his independently-owned Eagle-Chevy has a big mark to aim at, but he's arriving with both barrels loaded.

Wintersteen has 33 points and can take the championship away from Sell if he can win the race and Sell has to settle for a fifth place or worse.

Complicating the championship effort is the recent entry of several of the drivers already entered in the Monterey Grand Prix which follows the GP race, on Sunday.

Jerry Entin, Brett Lunger and Brian O'Neil are the culprits who hope to add some of the $12,000 GP prize money to their weekend winnings. With Can-Am money included, the weekend prize fund now is over $92,000.

All three drive Formula A GP cars for the same companies who sponsor their Can-Am cars, and all three are professional drivers.

Formula A cars are nearly identical to the famed Indianapolis cars, and cost about $20,000. Their speeds are nearly as high as the 600-hp Can-Am Group Seven cars which race on Sunday.

There's other competition for the GP prizes, too. With 32 entries already filed and three more days until practice begins Friday, it could be the biggest field of cars for a GP Championship race this year. The fastest 30 start the race.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Oct. 10, the 248th day of 1968 with 82 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1911, Chinese revolutionaries overthrew the Manchu Dynasty.

In 1963, an estimated 3,000 persons drowned when a dam burst in northern Italy.

A thought for the day—German philosopher Friedrich Wilhelm Nietzsche once said: "In revenge and in love, woman is more barbarous than man."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Speedy Declarer Sets Record In Going Down At Six Hearts

The way you play a bridge hand may depend more on your temperament than on your knowledge of the game. Some people play a hand as quickly as possible because then it just hurts for a moment.

FINESSE AT ONCE

When South played today's hand the other players were sure he had shaved three-tenths of a second off the world record for going down at six hearts. He won the first trick with the ace of clubs and took a diamond finesse at once.

West won with the king of diamonds and returned a club to the king. South drew trumps with the ace and ten and tried another diamond finesse. As West won with the queen of diamonds South spread his hand and claimed the rest.

CAN MAKE?

As West dealt the next hand North patiently observed: "You could have made that hand."

"It's too late now," South replied. And he picked up his cards, still searching for a game or slam that he could make without thinking.

MAKE MIND UP

South didn't want to see how he should have played the hand, but we have more time than he had. See if you can find the right line of play. Make up your own mind before you read on.

After winning the first club South should draw two rounds of trumps, cash the other high club and take the three spades, ending in dummy. Then, and only then, South tries a diamond finesse. West wins, but cannot make a safe return. A diamond return gives South a free finesse; any other return lets dummy ruff while South gets rid of the jack of diamonds.

DAILY QUESTION

♣ A 5

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one heart.

The suit is topless, but a five-card major suit should not be suppressed. If your fifth heart were changed to a diamond or a club, you would bid one no-trump rather than one haart.

Nonagenarian Is Still Driving

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — Mrs. Emily King, of Waipawa, a small town in New Zealand's North Island, has had her driving license renewed for another year. She is 93.

New Zealand law requires all drivers over 70 to have a test every year.

Mrs. King, who has been driving for 63 years, says today's young drivers "are killing themselves off so fast, there will only be older drivers left on the road."

Wall Street Closes On Sharp Downtrend

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market today closed with a fairly sharp loss. Trading was active.

It was the first genuine correction of the September rally. Some leading issues dropped a handful of points.

Great Western Financial, off 7/8 at 24 3/8; Metromedia, off 4 1/8 at 49 5/8; United Fruit, up 3 1/8 at 75 1/8; INA Corp., off 2 3/4 at 45 1/2; Cerro, off 2 1/2 at 39 3/4; World Airways, up 2 3/8 at 26; and General Electric, off 1 7/8 at 88 3/4.

Turnover also was swelled by a parade of big blocks, among them 379,000 shares of Great Western Financial, off 2 1/4 at 23. Earlier it traded on a 77,000-share block at 25.

This made Great Western the most-active stock by a wide margin over Safeway, a fractional loser, whose volume was boosted by a block of 50,000 shares.

Metromedia was delayed in trading, finally opening on a block of 15,000 shares, off 3 3/4 at 50. Later it stretched its loss to about 5. The stock rose more than 7 on Tuesday in advance of today's news that it had agreed in principle to merge with Transamerica, which gained more than 2.

United Fruit, among the most-active issues, spurted about 4 on news that Dillingham Corp. had sweetened its previously announced offer for United Fruit. Dillingham added a fraction.

Ingersoll-Rand rose about 2, and Torrington gained more than 3, after a report they planned to merge.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Convertible Preferreds Vs. Straight Preferreds

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Why is there such a disparity in prices between common and preferred stock? I note that North American Rockwell sells in the 30s and its preferred is close to 100. Getty Oil is just the reverse with the preferred at 22 and the common over 100. W. W.

A. The preferred stocks of the companies you cite are classified differently. North American is a $4.75 convertible preferred, which in essence is a high-grade common, whereas the $1.20 cumulative preferred of Getty is a straight income issue.

The North American preferred is convertible into 2.474 shares of common and for this reason tends to follow the action of the common shares at about two-and-one-half times their price.

Because this is an income issue it is influenced by monetary conditions. Therefore, since the yield is less than that available elsewhere, the shares trade at a discount from their $25 redemption value.

Q. Several years ago we bought Detroit Michigan Stove which was later merged into Welbilt Corp. We now own 1,400 preferred shares in the latter company and would appreciate any information you could give us on this issue. — H.C.

A. The growing investor interest in home-furnishings companies, together with Welbilt's improving position within the industry, have pushed the shares to new high ground. The improved outlook for Welbilt has resulted from its disposal of the assets of a division which was operating at a deficit, increasing emphasis on furniture operations and a shift in sales to consumers rather than to builders.

The preferred stock which you hold can be redeemed by the company at $10.50 and is convertible into common on a share-for-share basis. Since the shares are trading close to redemption value and the market for the preferred is very thin, I would convert at this time.

One 'Give-Away Game' To Defeat Another

The California Legislature put Proposition 1-A on the November ballot for one reason only: to try to defeat Proposition 9 by giving the voters an alternative.

In so doing, the legislators exhibited a rather low opinion of the intelligence of California voters. There is nothing in 1-A that could not have been handled by the Legislature itself, without further cluttering up the constitution. The lawmakers chose to put it to the vote as a constitutional amendment solely because they feared Proposition 9 would pass.

Virtually all the propaganda in behalf of 1-A has been based on this same assumption. We are told over and over, "Whichever of these two amendments gets the most votes will become law."

THAT JUST ISN'T SO, of course. If neither gets a majority vote, neither will become law.

The legislators no doubt have their reasons for thinking a majority of Californians would vote for Proposition 9, which would wreck local government and grassroots spending control more thoroughly than any "super-government" proposal yet advanced. After all, the legislators were elected by these same people.

History indicates, however, that Californians are more careful about putting nonsense into the constitution than about whom they elect to the Legislature. There have been some dandies in the past — "$30 Every Thursday," "Ham and Eggs for California," etc. — that the majority of the electorate was smart enough to turn down.

WE THINK THE MAJORITY today is smart enough to turn down the Watson Wonder. At least, we hope so.

We also think most Californians are smart enough not to be seduced by the $70 vote bribe in Proposition 1-A.

For this fiscal year only, it would pay each homeowner a $70 tax rebate, with the money supposed to come from that half-cent on the sales tax that would have expired last June 30 if the Legislature had lived up to its promise of last year.

It would exempt from taxation $750 of the assessed valuation of each homestead not now covered by veteran's tax exemption.

Each county, city, school district, etc., would budget as though there were no such exemption. The state would make up to each such district the amount lost through the exemption.

To do this, the state would keep the sales tax pegged at its present level.

Figures presented last year, when that half-cent was put on the sales tax for distribution to school districts, showed it producing $165 million. That is not enough to cover the taxes lost through the proposed $750 valuation exemptions.

THEREFORE, THE STATE would probably raise the sales tax some more to make up the difference.

But if Proposition 1-A is defeated, the sales tax will drop next June 30 by one-half cent (unless the Legislature fouls things up again).

With Every Breath

Compared to some parts of the country, Marin has only a very minor air pollution problem. Most days winds blow over Marin straight from the cool, clean Pacific.

But some days, usually in the autumn, the air is perfectly still and the highway fumes build up. Or there is a slight wind from the east bringing the combination of contaminated Bay smell and industrial air pollution. Then we get an idea of the conditions under which some of our fellow countrymen live.

Until recent years, Americans have regarded dirty air as little more than a nuisance. Today, however, some scientists are saying that if we continue to pollute the atmosphere at our present rate, the process may soon become irreversible.

Let us hope they are merely trying to arouse the apathetic public. We have no wish to find out too late that the scientists were right — a repeat of the passenger pigeon episode, but with no one left to record it.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

U.C. May Lose Autonomy Because Of Cleaver Resolution

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The possibility that California voters may be called upon in the future to revise the constitution specifically to put control of the University of California under the state Legislature loomed today as one California assemblyman voiced his opinion on activities of the University of California with regard to Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver.

Ray E. Johnson, R-Chico, expressed serious concern over the actions of the university's academic senate in approving, 668-114, a resolution which supports Cleaver's role as a guest lecturer at the institution.

"THE CALIFORNIA Legislature," Johnson declared, "expressed grave concern over permitting Cleaver to speak on the university campus. It voted in support of a resolution that would, in effect, direct the regents of the university to prevent him from being a guest lecturer.

"It is now high time for the people of California to revise the constitution.

"Many years ago, it was felt that it would be in the best interest of the university to make it autonomous and divorced from the area of political interference.

"Times have changed. The university is now a haven for political activity. Many professors spend more time being political hacks than teaching courses which they are hired to teach.

"Our old theory of no political interference at our university has been thrown out the window by the university itself . . .

"University leaders have always prided themselves on their degrees and accomplishments, and have expected to be rewarded accordingly. By passing this resolution, they are saying in effect that you do not need to have a degree, you need not be a man of character, you need not be anything to become a lecturer at the university."

ASSEMBLYMAN Johnson went on to say that he believes the action of the academic senate has "signed the death warrant of Proposition 3, the $250 million bond measure on the November ballot for the program of higher education.

"I also firmly believe," he declared, "that if drastic action isn't taken in the immediate future, utter chaos will spell doom to our entire university system. No one wants this to happen, and I am hopeful the electorate of California will not let it happen."

It would not take a great deal of pressure at the 1969 legislative session to prepare a constitutional amendment taking away the university's autonomy.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

No Conservation In Richardson Bay

I read where Mrs. (Mary) Summers, director of the Marin Conservation League, pleaded with the BCDC not to allow the filling of 17 acres to allow this project to proceed; she called Richardson Bay "our gem." It may be her gem; however, it is not mine and I do not believe it is the majority of Marinites' gem. The definition of conservation is: planned management of a natural resource to prevent exploitation, destruction or neglect. To my mind, Richardson Bay is being destroyed before our very eyes.

Instead of shooting down a project that at least in the pictures looked pretty good (there is only one decent motel in the whole county), why don't they stop the houseboat overflow which is in itself threatening to fill our bay, get rid of that drydock which has to be the ugliest, get rid of the junkyards which line our "gem," allow a small boat harbor to be built at Bolinas which would serve as a port of refuge which might save a few human lives and would displace very few birds, fight for a public swimming area at Phoenix Lake instead of filling it and making it a nature trail.

I would hope that developers could create in Richardson Bay what has been done in Mission Bay, San Diego: beautiful motels mixed with open areas for the public.

Complaining Letters Fail To Refute

The first comment was necessitated by the lame explanation of one L. E. Hunt (H. L. Hunt—editor), Texas oil millionaire, reciting his excuses for pouring his tax-free oil depletion allowance shekels into Dr. Rafferty's California campaign.

What is so remarkable about these letters is the fact that you are being taken to task for publishing the articles, yet none of the letters presented any facts which would refute the statements in the articles in any manner. . .

Can U.C. Exist Without Cleaver?

Your Sept. 26 editorial re U.C. concludes that the university may get its "death wish" for the "arrant nonsense" of appointing Cleaver for 10 lectures.

May I respectfully suggest that such Babbitt-like editorials are more nearly "arrant nonsense" than is Cleaver's appointment?

The implication of your editorial seems to be that we should "save" U.C. from dying by purging it not only of the criminal Cleaver, but by also eliminating the Academic Senate, as well as the majority of faculty and students.

If such is done, we will have remaining a "university" made up of faculty hacks, student hacks, football players, Greek frat vestiges, safe, voiceless foreign exchange students, etc. — all presided over and with courses set up by such intellectual giants as Reagan, Rafferty, and Pauley!

If such is the alternative, I say let it die and Godspeed!

Parents To Blame In Cleaver Affair

I have been reading for many days about the appointment of E. Cleaver to lecture at U.C.

In the first place, I don't think that any man, regardless of his color, who has the background that Cleaver has, is a fit person to lecture to a group of young or old people.

I also blame the misguided parents, who bring up their children in such a manner that they revere and follow people of this ilk — people who have no respect for the rights of anyone.

Reader Assumes Detective Role

Please regard this as my application for the Sherlock Holmes award for Master Detective and Sleuth of the Year. After careful perusal of the series on senatorial candidates Rafferty and Cranston, I have brilliantly deduced which one the author is plumping-for. By dint of uncanny insight, I have pierced the facade of nonpartisanship screening these writings and, by skillful interpretation of this numerous flattering references, can see clearly the writer's man is none other than Max!

Don't trouble to arrange a special presentation ceremony. Just send the medal along and I'll pin it next to the others, right here on my Napoleon costume.

A STOREKEEPER, sunning himself in the doorway of his shop, watched a policeman stop at one car not too close to the curb, pull a dime out of his pocket, and carefully deposit it in the parking meter. Nixon Breaks Sharply Away From Policies Of Eisenhower

Nixon is breaking significantly with the policies of the Eisenhower administration — far more than Hubert Humphrey is breaking with those of L.B.J.

SUMMIT MEETING — General Eisenhower opposed negotiating with the Russians at the summit level. He favored summit meetings only to ratify whatever could be negotiated by foreign ministers.

Nixon advocates a whole series of summit meetings with Soviet leaders for the very purpose of negotiating a wide range of East-West problems. He believes the United States can negotiate effectively with the Soviet Union only at the summit.

THE "NEW ECONOMICS"— General Eisenhower rejected the concept that the federal government could or should be the balance wheel to keep the nation's economy on an even keel and moving ahead. He refused to use tax reduction to stimulate the economy when stimulus was needed. During the eight Eisenhower years there were three periods of recession, gross rate was low, and unemployment was higher at each recession.

Nixon would not be a laissez-faire president. He does not take a do-nothing attitude toward the economy. He accepts the basic principles of the "New Economics" which have contributed to what has proved to be, despite inflation, the longest uninterrupted period of economic advance and prosperity in American history. He intends to use fiscal and tax policy either to prod or brake the economy as events require.

There could hardly be a bigger break with the Eisenhower years.

ACTIVIST PRESIDENT — General Eisenhower shunned an activist role as president. He sought to keep above the political battle and once said that he did not think he should use the White House for political purposes. His was a quiet, noncontroversial presidency.

Nixon explicity embraces an activist presidency. He views the White House as did Teddy Roosevelt — as a superb forum to lead, inform and unite the nation behind what he believes needs to be done. Nixon has delivered a major speech on his plan to use the presidency in this manner and it is clear that he is not going to be a quiet, passive president reluctant to use his influence and powers.

Nixon's breaks with the Eisenhower record have been unemphasized and unpublicized; certainly much different from Humphrey's much-discussed breaks with L.B.J. which have always been more apparent than real.

Humphrey's aides have been loudly proclaiming that he was separating himself from Johnson policies, but no significantly independent policies have evolved.

Nixon has been saying nothing about how he was separating himself from Eisenhower policies, but he has already staked out, almost unnoticed, three very meaningful areas of independent policies and action. One reason is that Nixon doesn't need to stress his breaks with General Eisenhower because Ike remains a popular figure. But this makes Nixon's departure from Eisenhower policies more meaningful because they are not brought on by political incentives.

It is evident from his speeches that two presidents Nixon especially admires are Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson. It looks to me as though Nixon is shaping his own concept of the presidency considerably in their image.

NATO Posture Changed Sharply By Czech Move

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Before the Russians and their Warsaw Pact allies invaded Czechoslovakia, political chiefs of NATO kept a log of "friendly" East-West contacts.

The log noted 210 major contacts in political, economic, military, scientific and cultural fields between December, 1967, and June, 1968.

It was part of a general mood of Euphoria and bridge-building which disappeared in the predawn hours of Aug. 21 when the Russians poured about a quarter of a million troops across Czech borders with a speed and efficiency military men had not thought possible.

Gone was any thought that at least three days of warning would precede any possible Communist military action against the West.

GONE, TOO, was the relaxed thinking which had permitted a dollar-conscious United States to withdraw 33,000 troops from European and its western allies to consider further reductions of their own.

It became a factor in passage by an alarmed U.S. Senate of the largest defense appropriation in American history.

NATO foreign ministers took advantage of the United Nations General Assembly meeting to confer early in New York and to move up by a month their annual meeting originally scheduled for Brussels in December.

As the Russians shifted the balance of military power in Europe, among the NATO planners there was revived talk of stringing nuclear land mines along the border with Warsaw Pact countries.

THERE WERE other tangible results.

The U.S. decided to send back to Europe a tactical squadron of 18 Phantom jets withdrawn in 1966. It will return 12,000 U.S. troops to West Germany for maneuvers next year.

Britain broke off withdrawal of her troops from West Germany and announced instead she will strengthen her commitment.

A reconnaissance RAF quadron and two frigates scheduled for return to Britain will remain instead in the Mediterranean to keep an eye on a Russian fleet build-up.

A Belgian "redeployment" which included the withdrawal of one of its two armored divisions in Germany was canceled and all units now will remain.

Knowing The Lingo Helpful In Cross-Culture Communication

The grim side of Charles R. Garry, attorney for convicted Black Panther Huey P. Newton, was apparent last week when he told College of Marin students his Negro client never had a chance for a fair trial.

The humorous side — and Garry has a rather dry but dark-eyes-smiling delivery when amused — came while he was attempting to explain one of the reasons a fair trial was not possible. It resulted in his launching into a brief and light-mannered quiz about Black Panther jargon.

The veteran of 30 years of civil and criminal trial work had just contended that Newton should have been tried by people of his own kind or at least people who understood his cultural background and the ways of the black ghetto.

One of the jury panelists didn't even know what the term "T.C.B." meant as used by Newton and his companions, exclaimed Garry. Nor did the panelist know what connotation the word "signify" had for the Panthers.

GARRY REVEALED this as though it were unthinkable. To me, it was. I couldn't for the life of me think what "T.C.B." could mean.

Neither, when Garry called for a show of hands, did many of the audience. Except some of the Negro students seated as a group in a rear corner as voluntarily segregated as it was possible to be. Understanding smiles were displayed there.

"T.C.B.", said Garry, relaxing and eyes smiling, stands for "Taking care of business."

But even with the enlightenment, said he, the panelist didn't understand it, interpreting it as taking care of the business of being a Black Panther, of likely engaging in the business of violence.

Actually, said Garry, it means taking care of whatever "business" you have at hand. If you're hungry, you take care of business by eating. If you need to study, you do. If you have a date and want to "make out," said he, "you T.C.B."

Garry then got most of us further off the square hook. Signifying, said he, is like when you see a "doll" with gorgeous legs seated on a chair, you walk past slowly and give her the once over. Then you say, "Man, look what beautiful legs that chair has." That, said Garry, is signifying.

A COUPLE of Negro students later contributed further to my education. Jiving, for instance, "is just goofing around with the situation. You're not really tending to the particular issue." Grooving? "Well, like you know everything is going nice and smooth. You're just checking it out on an objective level. It's going nice, the way you want it to."

But "right-on" really stumped me. It means the whole package is acceptable, declared my informants. "Like if you are in a Baptist church and the preacher says something that stimulates you" and you understand completely and approve. You say, "right-on."

Similar, I take it, to the old saying of, "Amen."

Bolinas-Stinson Trustees Endorse Tam High Bonds

The Bolinas-Stinson School District board has endorsed the $10.9 million Tamalpais High School District bond issue on the November ballot, according to Supt.-Principal Clarence B. Larison.

All board members voted Tuesday in favor of the issue except Chairman Jane Phillips, who abstained from voting.

Three board members voted to oppose Proposition 9 — the Watson "tax relief" amendment —which is also on the November ballot. Mrs. Phillips and Ida Mendonca abstained.

The feasibility of renovating the old Bolinas School at a cost of $24,000 was discussed, but no decision was made.

Larison said the old school could be used for the first and second grades which are now at Stinson School, thus enabling all elementary school classes to be on the same site. Kindergarten and third through eighth grades are at the new Bolinas School next to the old structure.

The board unanimously adopted a standard policy concerning the organization and function of the board. Before, the board had been operating under "scanty rules," explained Larison.

An expenditure of $1,800 mainly for swings and overhead projectors for the Bolinas and Stinson schools and kindergarten furniture was approved.

Larison reported the bell on the old Bolinas School has been removed, because of danger of it falling, and it is being stored at Bolinas School.

Meeting Put Off

The Oct. 21 meeting of the Tamalpais High School District board will instead be held at 8 p.m. Oct. 28, because Trustee Berton C. Jacobson will be absent Oct. 21, district officials have announced. The board meets at district offices, Redwood High School, Larkspur.

Trailer Taxes Bring $22,484

Marin County's share of the semi-annual apportionment of trailer coach fees was $22,484, according to Houston I. Flournoy, state controller.

The $6,044,001 paid in trailer license fees during the first six months of 1968 was apportioned among the counties, which then distribute it equally between the county (or city if the trailer is registered within a city) and the school districts in which each trailer is situated.

ACLU Sets Guidelines For Conduct Of Schools

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The American Civil Liberties Union has set down some suggested guidelines governing freedom of faculty and students in high schools in a newly published pamphlet, "Acedemic Freedom in the Secondary Schools."

The preface of the pamphlet gives somewhat the impression that the ACLU has set itself up as supreme arbiter of how the schools should be run. This may be due to some careless or unfortunate choice of words. On the other hand, as the ACLU has often interested itself in behalf of teachers and students, it may be that it really assumes this authority.

"SCHOOL administrators," says the preface, "should widen the area of teacher and student initiative and responsibility, and should accept and act upon as broad a construction of the rights of teachers and students as is compatible with their responsibilities."

Further, it advises: "No step should be neglected which will enable students to hear and to learn to evaluate strange and unpopular ideas."

This seems to be going a bit beyond protection of the civil liberties of the students and faculty.

FOR THE MOST part, however, the pamphlet suggests reasonable guidelines which might be very useful for some school districts floundering in indecision as to what to permit and when to crack down.

This is true particularly in dealing with student rights. The ACLU urges that students be allowed full freedom of expression, through forums, meetings, personal expression, and even peaceful demonstrations; but it holds that the school administration has veto power that should be exercised to prevent such student activism from interfering with conduct of the educational process.

School administration and faculty, it says, "where feasible, should permit the publication of multiple and competing periodicals" by students. "The material and equipment for publication, such as duplicating machines, paper and ink should be available to students in such quantity as budget may permit."

The idea of a school thus underwriting its own "underground press" may not be too appealing to either the school administration or to the taxpayers who must foot the bill.

IN DISCUSSING teacher rights, the ACLU comes out flatly: "The right to participate in union activity should include the right to strike."

Having taken this position, the ACLU presumably will offer its legal aid to striking teachers even where strikes by public employees are prohibited by law.

The pamphlet also sets forth what the ACLU believes should be the job security rights of teachers — most of which, in California, are covered by laws which might almost have provided the model for what the pamphlet suggests.

"THE PROFESSIONAL staff," says the American Civil Liberties Union, "has the right and responsibility to establish the curriculum . . . (and) when and how it shall be taught."

This sounds rather like a leaf from the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers, which holds in essence that school boards exist only to pay the bills.

There would seem to be some difficulty, for instance, in adding vocational courses — the necessity of which is being widely urged, particularly by the U. S. Office of Education — in a school that has few of them, if the existing faculty sets up the curriculum.

HOWEVER, although the ACLU has gone somewhat afield in some respects in this new pamphlet, it should be noted that it also urges responsibility upon the faculty. For instance: "The teacher's professional integrity requires that he not present unorthodox views in such a manner as to imply that they are generally accepted." And again: The teacher's "political activity must not compromise his professional integrity."

It is good to see that the ACLU recognizes that the civil liberties of the captive audience in the schoolroom may be infringed by other things than denial of rights to talk, to publish, and to demonstrate.

Copies of the pamphlet are available from the American Civil Liberties Union at 156 Fifth Avenue, New York 10010.

Fair-Marin Completes List Of Nominations

Fair-Marin Inc., which came up with only 10 nominees for its sevenman board of directors last week, picked six more last night to present to the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Mrs. Thomas J. McWatters Jr., who called last night's meeting, announced that a full list of 14 nominees will be submitted to the supervisors next Tuesday. Of the original 10, two have withdrawn their names from consideration.

From the 14 names, supervisors will pick seven to the board of directors of Fair-Marin, which will operate the Veterans Memorial Auditorium and fairgrounds.

Policeman Faces Murder Charge In Negro's Death

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Police patrolman Michael O'Brien was charged with murder yesterday in connection with the fatal shooting of a man during an off-duty fight over a minor traffic accident near the Hall of Justice. After booking, he was released on his own recognizance, an unusual move which aroused considerable criticism.

The charge was filed after an extensive investigation of the incident, which aroused strong feelings among the city's Negroes. O'Brien, 26, was scheduled to appear in municipal court today.

The patrolman was charged with the murder of Negro truck driver George Baskett, 28, on the evening of Sept. 29. The shooting triggered a row which eventually involved about 60 persons and required the police tactical squad to quell.

O'Brien and another off-duty policeman were backing a boat-trailer into a garage near the Hall of Justice when the trailer was scraped by another car. A fight broke out, and Baskett was shot during the disturbance.

The two policemen said O'Brien fired in self defense when Baskett attacked him with a chunk of wood. Other witnesses told authorities the patrolman shot Basket after commenting he was going to "kill a Nigger."

The murder charge was filed yesterday shortly after a delegation of eight prominent Negroes, including state Assemblyman Willie Brown, urged Dist. Atty. John Ferdon to prosecute O'Brien on a murder charge or resign.
